Kidnap Crew Promises To Free Editor

Swap For $700,000 Ransom Is Set Tonight

ATLANTA (UPI) — The FBI said today the American Revolutionary Army kidnapers of Atlanta Constitution editor John R. (Reg) Murphy had agreed to set Murphy free tonight in exchange for $700,000, providing there was no "hankypanky."

FBI Agent-In-Charge Leo E. Conroy said the information was relayed through a private citizen, a woman, who was not identified.

He said officials were convinced the call was authenic because it contained a "particular bit" of information that would have been known only to Murphy.

The 40-year-old Murphy was kidnaped Wednesday night after being lured from his home on the pretense that he was needed in arranging a 300,000-gallon gift of free heating oil for the needy.

The phone call today came after Murphy advised the Constitution, via a tape recording delivered to the newspaper, that his abductors would contact a person at "random" and relay instructions for ransoming him.

Conroy said the unidentified woman was contacted by a man who identified himself as a "colonel" in the Revolutionary Army, a right-wing group which Murphy said was upset because it felt the nation's news media had become too liberal and had swung too far to the left. Murphy said this was the reason for his abduction.

Conroy said the woman reported that the colonel promised that "Mr. Murphy would be released tonight" if all goes well and according to instructions.

The colonel, according to the woman, said he'd changed his mind about how he wanted the money packaged and that he would be calling back again. The group had first demanded

Rock Tossers Attack 23 Service Stations

Early Hour Vandalism To Windows

By MARY LEYDECKER

At least 23 service stations in Northern and Central Marin were vandalized early this morning by rock-slinging vandals who broke front windows.

Motive for the attacks may have been the gasoline shortage, officials theorized, but many individual station owners, at first unaware that the damage had been widespread, looked for private reasons.

One blamed a former owner and another operator thought the damage might have been inflicted by irate teen-agers with whom he had a confrontation recently.

Harried dealers, who believe they are trapped between the oil companies and government energy officials on one hand and the public on the other in the current gasoline shortage, were universally irate, however.

"We're doing the best we can. We're not the ones who created this monster (the shortage) and if people are going to retaliate against us, we're going to take measures . . . we're going to close up," said Joseph Bonomolo of B and B Arco in Novato.

This morning's damage which first was reported about 1 a.m. in Novato and continued south through the county followed the same pattern. Some of the broken windows were not found until station owners opened up this morning.

In each case a small hole had been made in windows with rocks found in the back of stations, indicating something with the force of a sling shot had been used to propel the missiles.

Law officers today had just begun to investigate the attacks and were at a loss to explain them. There was no suspect yet.

The vandals broke windows at stations in Novato, Ignacio, Black Point, Marinwood, Santa Venetia, San Rafael and Corte Madera.

No damage was reported in Southern Marin or in Sonoma County.

No estimate of the total damage was available today, but some owners said the larger front windows cost about $200 to replace.

Bonomolo said the vandals "think the oil company is going to pay for this. They don't know we have to pay for it."

He suggested that people who

Water Manager Describes Attempts To Meet Needs

By GEORGE NEVIN

The acting general manager of the Marin Municipal Water District testified today the district conscientiously tried to obtain new water sources to meet the growing demand in Marin County.

J. Dietrich Stroeh's testimony in a suit challenging the district's moratorium on new service came the day after the former general manager said he thought the ban was unnecessary when it was enacted last April.

Stroeh detailed to Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire how the district began planning as early as 1963 to import Russian River water to meet demand of the early 1970s.

Although voters approved the first phase of the Russian River project, two other bond issues to finance completion of the system were decisively defeated.

At issue in the case is the McCarthy Co.'s suit, seeking water connections for a proposed 292-unit housing development near the Marin Civic Center.

Six other developers have sued the water district for service.

In testimony yesterday, William R. Seeger, the district's general manager for 20 years until he resigned in October, said he was pressured into supporting the moratorium though he thought it unnecessary.

Replying to a question by Albert Bianchi, a McCarthy Co. attorney, on whether he had been pressured, Seeger replied, "Yes, by Director Felson."

Jack R. Felson, now president of the water board, is a candidate for state Assembly.

The former general manager also testified that to his knowledge, two dry years in a row, required to create a shortage, has never happened.

Seeger also criticized Dr. L. Martin Griffin, one of the board's conservationist directors, saying, "Dr. Griffin's opinion was that you can control population by water management and that this should be a function of the district."

Hundreds Line Up For Hearst Food

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Hundreds of persons lined up today for the first giveaway of free food sponsored by Randolph A. Hearst in an attempt to meet the demands of his daughter's kidnapers.

Lines started forming as early as 6:30 a.m., and by 10 a.m. some 200 persons were waiting outside the distribution center in San Francisco and another 200-300 were waiting at the Richmond center, two hours in advance of the noon opening.

The giveaway program was ordered by the Symbionese Liberation Army as a good faith gesture to win release of 20-year-old Patty Hearst, kidnaped Feb. 4. But as the giveaway program got underway, the SLA demanded that its size be tripled, saying the girl's family was not offering enough of a sacrifice for her release.

Hearst had made no response by mid-morning to the new ultimatum, in which the SLA threatened to break off communication unless its demand was met within 24 hours and to hold Patty as a hostage indefinitely for two SLA members being held on murder charges.

Outside the San Francisco distribution area, in the low-income Hunter's Point area, Kathleen Sullivan, 18, who has the same birthday as Patricia Hearst, said she thought the Bridge Directors Vote To Buy 32 New Buses To Ease Crowding

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Purchase of 32 new buses to relieve commuter crowding was approved today by Golden Gate Bridge directors.

The $56,000 coaches, to be built by the sole bidder, General Motors Corp., will be delivered next September or October.

It will be the first expansion of the district s bus fleet since a year ago January, when purchase of 32 buses brought the total to 188 coaches.

Some 8,500 Marin and Sonoma commuters ride the system every morning, with about 500 of them forced to stand. Commuters also have long complained of waiting up to half an hour to get a seat.

Directors balloted 13-to-2 to make the $1.8 million purchase. San Francisco Supervisor John L. Molinari and director Ben K. Lerer, also of San Francisco, cast the only dissenting votes.

Lerer noting the bid by GM included an option for 30 more buses, said the first 32 were "an opening wedge to buy the entire 62.

Today s action came only two weeks after directors raised the bridge toll from 50 to 75 cents. Purchase of additional buses had been held up since last spring during the long fight over the toll increase.

Lerer objected that 30 more buses would raise the annual deficit of the bus system from $4 million to $5.5 million. He argued no extra deficit should be risked until it is certain the toll hike will survive a threatened court challenge.

Molinari also objected to the cost.

The district s staff said the federal government is expected to pay 80 per cent of the cost of the new buses.

McPhail, Mrs. Seminario To Seek Seats On Municipal Water Board

Joan Seminario of Kentfield and Graham McPhail Jr. of San Rafael have announced plans to seek seats on the Marin Municipal Water District board.

Mrs. Seminario is the first to take out candidacy papers for the board post held by Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. Martinelli, who represents Division 3, has not decided whether to seek reelection.

McPhail's entry into the race for the Division 1 seat held by Jack R. Felson makes it a three-way contest. Also running for the post are Winifred S. Frederick of Lagunitas and Betty Forry of Marinwood.

(Felson, one of the board's conservationist majority, will not seek another term because he is a candidate for State Assembly).

Also up for election are the seats of environmentalists L. Martin Griffin and Ronald T. Stafford. Stafford has resigned to return to his native Georgia.

The seats will be filled in the June 4 primary.

No one has yet announced for Griffin's post. Willard Hall of Sausalito is a candidate for Stafford's seat.

He is a third generation Marinite, born in Ross and reared in the county. His father, Graham McPhail Sr. of San Rafael, now retired, was one of the founders of McPhail's Inc.

McPhail's cousin, John M. MacPhail Jr., is currently on the water district board. His mother, Vera, ran unsuccessfully for the board in 1972. She had

Absentee Ballot Deadline Given

Voters seeking absentee ballots for the March 5 municipal elections have until Tuesday to apply, county elections officer Peter C. Meyer said today.

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in saying the Tuesday deadline was for the June 4 primary election.

Application for an absentee ballot may be made by filling out the form on the back of the "polling place card voters received with their sample ballots and mailing it to Meyer s office at Civic Center.

Fraser Quits Council Race For Short While

By PAUL LIBERATORE

Incumbent Sausalito City Councilman Stephen A. Fraser, who last night publicly dropped from the current council race to avoid being dragged into what he called "the muck of dirty politics," announced today that he has reconsidered his angry withdrawal.

"The town should not be turned over to mean people," Fraser declared. "I have received so many phone calls asking me to remain in the race that I have reconsidered and am going to take on this campaign with all energy and determination."

Fraser's announcement that he was dropping from the race came after what he described as "a very vicious, determined effort" to attack fellow council aspirant W. Daniel O'Connor, a Sausalito businessman, at a candidate's forum last night sponsored by the Sausalito Woman's Club.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Youths Reject Guilty Plea Deal

HOUSTON (UPI) — Two youths charged in the mass murders of 27 teen-age boys turned down a prosecutor's deal to plead guilty in exchange for life sentences, an assistant district attorney said yesterday.

Henley

Donald Lambright said Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, and David Owen Brooks, 19, rejected the deal on advice of their attorneys.

Henley is accused of six murders and Brooks, four murders, in a string of sex-torture killings that took place between 1970 and 1973. The two led authorities to the graves of the victims at three Texas locations but claimed Dean Corll, 33, was the mastermind of the sadistic murder ring. Henley shot Corll Aug. 8 at a paint-sniffing party.

Takes Hotel

BELFAST (UPI) — Irish Republican Army gunmen took over a hotel in the Irish Republic today and used it as a fortress from which to launch a major attack on an army post just across the border, an army spokesman said.

The gunmen raked the post with 1,000 rounds of machine-gun fire and about 30 mortar rounds during a 25- minute battle, then escaped, the spokesman said.

Beef Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers will find 1974 meat supplies above the reduced 1973 level mainly because beef production is expected to pick up beginning this spring. But prices for the year will average above 1973, the Agriculture Department predicted today.

Traditional economic theory maintains that bigger supplies bring lower prices. But Agriculture economists, in a summary report o the livestock and meat outlook, said continuing inflationary pressure will boost this year's average above last year's level.

The report, generally echoing earlier forecasts, said consumers face another round of escalating prices in the first half of the year.

Official Now

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) Gov. George C. Wallace, promising today to help all Alabamians "attain the American dream," announced his candidacy for an unprecedented third term as governor, a stepping stone to running for President again in 1976.

The crippled Wallace, standing erect on his paralyzed legs in a specially built podium, did not mention his hopes of winning the Democratic presidential nomination in his prepared text, and did not make any specific promises for the next four years.

Pay Error Feud

LONDON (UPI) — An error in calculating pay of 269,000 coal miners exploded today into Britain's election battle and touched off Labor Party charges that Prime Minister Edward Heath had deliberately deceived the country.

"Something funny is going on," Labor Party leader Harold Wilson said. "Facts are emerging which are probably going to prove that Mr. Heath has misled the country all along about the basic facts and that this dispute need never have occurred."

Conservative party officials said Heath is considering a reply.

The error was unearthed and made public late last night by the government's antiinflation pay board which is holding an inquiry into the miners' pay dispute.

New Fighting

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist forces opened a new fighting front in northern Quang Ngai Province without letting up heavy battles in the southern Mekong Delta and the Central Highlands, the Saigon command said today.

In Phnom Penh, government military sources said North Vietnam has agreed to meet an insurgents' call for more military assistance tocarry on the war in Cambodia.

The sources said the North Vietnamese decision was discovered in documents captured during fighting with rebels south of Phnom Penh. They said the documents did not reveal what form the aid would take.

Labor Unrest

COMODORO RIVADAVIA, Argentina (UPI) — Oil workers battled police last night in fighting that killed two laborers in this coastal town 1,100 miles south of Buenos Aires.

Police said the fighting broke out when some 500 leftist workers marched on their union headquarters to oust 10 rightist men who had occupied it since Wednesday.

Boyle Status

MEDIA, Pa. (UPI) — The Deleware County Court denied all but one defense moton during a pretrial hearing yesterday in the murder case of former United Mine Workers president W.A. (Tony) Boyle.

Boyle, 72 was ordered returned to a federal prison hospital to await his March 25 Yablonski murder trial.

White House Denial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren has denied a UPI report published yesterday that President Nixon has postponed a European trip from spring to fall.

Warren said, "we have not announced a time for the trip." But he said "there is nothing to the report that there has been a delay or change in the President's plans."

According to informaton received by UPI, the trip had been set for either April 1 to 15 or April 15 to May 2 and would have included Great Britain, France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium and the Netherlands.

Tips Given To Reduce Shoplifting

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — "Honest Johns," "booster bloomers" and full skirts can cost California businesses millions of dollars each year, according to Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger.

Younger's warning was contained in a new pamphlet issued yesterday to tell business "what steps can be taken to minimize the multimillion dollar losses which occur each year as a result of" crimes.

The 32-page booklet includes chapters on shoplifting, till tapping, theft by employees, stolen credit cards, bad checks and legal rules on arrests.

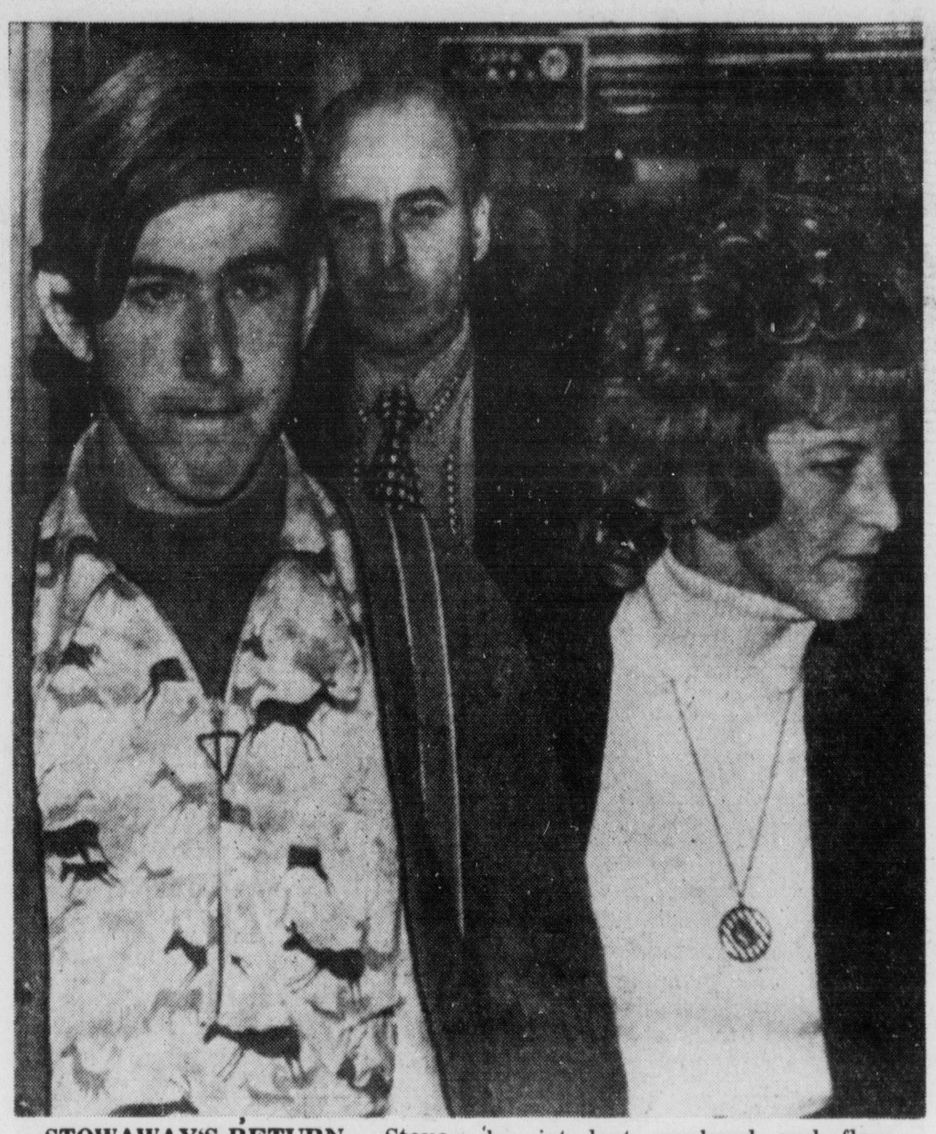

The pamphlet said booster bloomers—a large pair of underclothing worn under the outer pants or dress—can be used to "steal hundreds of dollars worth of goods in a matter of a few seconds."

"In fact, some women have been observed stealing items as large as radios, hams and even small portable television sets" with the bloomers, the pamphlet said.

It stated an "honest John" is a person used to divert the attention of a clerk while an accomplice dips into the cash register's till.

"Full skirts," the booklet said, "can camouflage a dozen articles stashed in elastic bags tied to a woman's belt."

The pamphlet, entitled "On The Alert," can be secured without cost by writing the attorney general's office, 555 Capitol Mall, Sacramento 95814.

STOWAWAY'S RETURN — Steve Verzi of Castro Valley was near tears on his return to his parents yesterday at San Francisco International Airport. The 15-year-old schoolboy stowed away on a jumbo jet last weekend and flew 12,000 miles to London to see an aunt and uncle in Warrenton, England. Meeting him upon his return were his parents, Betty and Steve Verzi (rear).

Castro Valley Youth At Home After Free Flight To England

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A teenage stowaway who rode a Pan Am 747 to England was home again today in Castro Valley.

Steve Verzi, 15, arrived at San Francisco Airport last night, looking crestfallen and on the verge of tears.

He declined to tell how he managed to board the plane here or how he sneaked past officials when he landed in England.

A Pan Am spokesman said his methods were "deceptive but good," but also declined to comment further Verzi said he had "just wanted to see my relatives in England" and promised never to repeat his action.

He left his Castro Valley home with $4 and said "I spent $2 on the bus to the airport and $2 for food."

He thus was penniless when he climbed aboard a Valentine's Day flight from San Francisco to London and took a 7,000-mile free ride to see his uncle and aunt in Warrenton, England, who were stunned to see their unexpected nephew and called his home.

Steve's parents sent his passport and a return ticket to bring him home. Father Jerry Verzi, an insurance man, had said earlier that the money would come out of Steve's $2 a week allowance, but he declined to comment last night.

Nixon's Economy Program Rapped

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Accusing President Nixon of making a "mess" of the economy, labor leader George Meany says workers need pay raises of at least 10 per cent to catch up with inflation over the past 18 months.

Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders demanded an end to all government wage and price controls except on oil prices during the fuel shortage, and said Congress should take steps to get the nation out of the recession, which Meany said Nixon has brought on the nation.

The executive council issued a statement saying, "Thirty months of the Nixon administration's so-called stabilization program has done nothing to curb inflation. As a stabilization effort, it is simply a fraud. The result has been the worst economic mess in more than three decades."

The council said consumer prices now are rising at twice the rate they were before Nixon began wage and price controls in 1971, and wholesale prices are going up six times as fast.

Consumer prices went up 8.8 per cent last year while the wages of workers went up an average of only 5.6 per cent, the council said.

"The controls program has been unfair, unjust and inequitable from its very beginning," the labor council said. "Workers wages alone have been held down. Profits, interest rates and prices have skyrocketed.

"There can be no justification whatsoever for a 5.5 per cent standard for wage increases in the face of living costs that are rising almost twice as fast," it said.

President Nixon has asked Congress to drop economic controls April 30 except in the food, medical and petroleum industries.

Cost Of Highway Work Increases

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The cost of constructing highways in California has increased by more than 50 per cent since 1968, according to the state Department of Transportation.

The department yesterday also said costs will jump even faster next year when the full effects of materials and oil shortages are felt and construction wage contracts are renegotiated.

The source of highway revenues—an 11-cent tax on each gallon of fuel and license and weight fees—is relatively fixed, the department said. Therefore, it said, inflation results in the department being able to finance fewer miles of highway each year.

Goals Of Mill Valley's General Plan Outlined

A set of eight goals for a new Mill Valley general plan were approved last night by the steering committee of a citizens advisory group on the plan, according to planning director Tom W. Newton.

The goals resemble a set originally drawn up by the city's general plan consulting firm, Sedway-Cooke of San Francisco, but with some variations. The firm will now look at them again and outline how to accomplish the goals.

The goals adopted last night state:

1. Natural environment should dominate the character of Mill Valley.

2. Natural resources and natural processes that give Mill Valley its character should be conserved and restored.

3. The health and well-being of people and the physical safety of property should be assured.

4. A diverse community composition should be retained and encouraged.

5. Community commercial and professional services should meet the essential needs of residents.

6. The physical character and historical values of Mill Valley as a small town with a sense of community should be retained and enhanced.

7. Complementary and alternate modes of moving people which de-emphasize dependence on the automobile must be developed.

8. Cultural, educational and recreational programs and facilities should be encouraged.

Latins Offered End To Punitive Actions

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger met in closed session today with 24 Latin American foreign ministers to hear their reaction to his surprise agreement to end punitive U.S. legislation hated by Latin American nationalists.

The legislation is the Hickenlooper amendment which makes suspension of U.S. economic aid the penalty for seizure of an American company without "just compensation."

Kissinger made his Hickenlooper offer on one condition: Latin America must agree to a formula "acceptable to all" for settling disputes arising from expropriation of American property in this area in the future.

Mexican Foreign Minister Emilio Rabasa, president of the conference of hemisphere foreign ministers which ends here Saturday, declined comment on the Kissinger proposal except to say, "Everyone knows we are against the Hickenlooper amendment. We consider it unjust."

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D.,Mont., leader of the Democractic majority in the U.S. Senate, made plain Kissinger's proposal was presented after prior consultation with congressional leaders.

"He speaks for all of us and we'll see what happens," Mansfield, a member of the U.S. delegation to the conference, told UPI.

The Kissinger proposal seemed to take Latin ministers by surprise. After Kissinger made his presentation, speaking from scribbled notes in a closed session yesterday, Raba, as conference president tried to open the debate. He asked if any other foreign minister would like to speak. No one raised his hand, American officials said.

But committees of Latin Americans worked through the night to prepare their reports for today's session, also closed to press and public.

Kissinger also expressed willingess to negotiate on a Mexican proposal for an Economic Charter of the Rights and Duties of Nations. President Luis Echeverria had proposed the charter to defend less developed nations against the economic power of the richer ones. But Kissinger said the rights must not all be for the poor nations and the duties all for the richer—there must be mutual responsibilities. The Kissinger offer on the Hickenlooper amendment was part of his suggestion for new dialogue to set up a modern framework for solving problems facing the western hemisphere.

"The time has come to infuse the Western Hemisphere relationship with a new spirit," the secretary said yesterday in a 14-page speech at the opening of the Tlatelolco Conference, named after the Mexican Foreign Ministery Building.

Kissinger said Latin America and the United States should "bring about a new commitment to the inter-American community."

"Let us make clear to our people that we do have a common destiny and a modern framework for effective cooperation," he said in his first major Latin American policy speech.

The first day of the conference ended on a sour note when procedural delays forced the cancellation of an evening private meeting between Kissinger and the foreign ministers. Some ministers complained his promise of a "new dialogue" was turning into a "monologue."

Kissinger, who was expected to return to Washington tomorrow night to prepare for next week's Middle East peace mission, was one of three speakers during the public session opening the conference.

WEAPON — Peter Jizrewi, owner of the Gulf Station at Francisco and Bellam boulevards in San Rafael, holds the rock which was propelled through a window at his station early today. Officials theorized a slingshot had been used to hurl the rocks through numerous stations, possibly in protest of the gasoline shortage.

HEARST

giveaway was a "good idea."

"I'm behind the SLA 101 per cent," she said. "Patricia Hearst being kidnaped and then food being given out is more of a cause than the way poor people and blacks have been shot down before."

"I think it is something that should have happened a long time ago," said Anna Costa, 17, who also was waiting for food. "I hope she (Patty) gets out of it. I think they just want their thing. When they get it, they will leave her alone."

A number of persons waiting in line said they liked the program because they didn't have to fill out forms.

A massive effort was under way by a volunteer staff to get the food to the centers in time for the opening. Among the food bought and donated were 20 tons of frozen turkeys, 20 tons of case goods, 3,000 loaves of bread, 5,000 quarts of fresh milk, 1,000 pounds of lunchmeat and hundreds of cases of canned and dried food.

A. Ludlow Kramer, Washington state secretary of state who was asked to set up the program by Hearst, said he hoped to feed 20,000 people in the first day of operation.

More than 3,000 persons had volunteered to help staff the program, said Kramer's assistant, Perry Maze.

Kramer said that if the total ratio of donated food to purchased food keeps up— $150,000 donated and $15,000 bought so far out of Hearst funds—the $2 million pledged by Hearst would actually result in a total of $20 million given away, far in excess of the latest SLA demand.

At his suburban Hillsborough home, a family spokesman said Hearst was preparing a response to the latest SLA demand and would probably release it later today.

Not all those outside the food distribution centers approved of the giveaway. A middle-aged black woman stopped outside the Richmond center and said, "Those bastards. I worked all my life but I'd never take it. They ought to let the white girl go."

Delay Seen In Intertie Completion

By ERNEST MURPHY

SANTA ROSA — The Russian River-Cotati intertie project, which is to supply badly-needed water to Southern Sonoma and Northern Marin counties, has been set back at least three months because Petaluma has doubled its water request.

Sonoma County Water Agency director Gordon Miller said Petaluma's request for 17 million gallons per day by 1995 will delay the project because of the many engineering and financial adjustments involved. Petaluma originally had asked for only 9.8 million gallons per day and the project was planned with that amount in mind.

Petaluma officials say the huge increase is necessary because of the U.S. District Court decision last month which wiped out the city's growth control ordinance limiting housing construction to 500 units a year.

Without the growth limit, Petaluma is expected to have a population of 77,000 by 1995, according to studies by the city planning staff.

At present population is 30,050, an increase of nearly 150 per cent over a decade ago.

"We'll probably lose as much as 90 days," Miller said yesterday. "We're still hoping for completion in 1976. We don't know if we can make it but we're going to try."

According to Miller, the Petaluma increase will affect the project's costs, which is shared in part by the North Marin County Water District as well as the Sonoma Water Agency.

Miller said he hopes to have new cost figures by March 7, when cities and agencies involved in the project will meet to get it moving again.

Construction costs will be higher because of the necessary increase in delivery equipment, he said, although the cost of water itself may be lowered for other cities because of Petaluma's increased consumption.

The Petaluma Water Commission decided last week it needed the huge increase and the request landed like a bomb at this week's water agency meeting in Santa Rosa. Contractors for the pipeline were on hand so a final construction agreement could be adopted. The agreement, and the project itself, now must wait until plans are adjusted for the increase.

Petaluma's new request could complicate the work considerably, Miller said.

"We're already running into longer delivery times for steel products," he said. Miller fears delivery delays could be aggravated by the time needed to plan for the extra water volume, possibly stalling the completion date as much as a year.

Even if Petaluma appeals the district court ruling, he said, the project and the users won't be able to wait that long.

Until the Russian River water is available, Southern Sonoma towns face the possibility of water rationing during summer months when consumption reaches its peak.

WATER

sought the seat held by her nephew.

He is a graduate of San Rafael High School, attended the College of Marin, and obtained his bachelor's degree, in social science, from Chico State College. His minor in college was economics.

McPhail worked for McPhails Inc. for seven years, then spent two years with Sears Roebuck and Company and six months with Montgomery Ward & Co. before buying the Petaluma store in December 1972.

He believes his long tenure in Marin makes him the candidate best qualified to serve on the water board and said he plans to ask voters to "hire" him. "I'm an independent voice, not beholden to anyone," McPhail said. "I plan to spend only my own money in the campaign."

The candidate pointed out that he is no longer associated with McPhails Inc. and has no business interest in the county.

McPhail would "consider lifting the moratorium (on new water connections), but only if there were stringent requirements for any new development.

"I would oppose large developments," he said, "but I feel there should be water for single-family homes. There's no need to have a lot of unemployment in the construction-real estate industry."

McPhail has served on the board of McPhail's Inc. and sees much similarity between the multi-million dollar business and the water district.

"I'm not afraid to ruffle feathers. I would want to evaluate how the district could economize and pass the savings on to customers," he said. "Economizing is my specialty."

McPhail and his wife, Alda, have two children, Heather and Scott.

Mrs. Seminario, 35, worked on two successful campaigns to block major water supply projects proposed by Marin Municipal. She helped to defeat the Sonoma-Marin aqueduct in 1971 and the Russian River water supply project last November.

The candidate was one of the founders of Marin Alternative and currently is chairman of the group's water task force.

Mrs. Seminario is a law student at Lincoln University in San Francisco and a member of the National Women's Political Caucus.

If elected, she would work to continue the policies and programs of the board's conservationist majority. She believes the district's electorate wants Marin Municipal board to continue its moratorium on new water connections until the county's planning agencies come up with an effective way to limit growth in Marin.

She is convinced it is "the prerogative of district voters" to decide whether the water district should expand its supplies.

Mrs. Seminario is a former member of the environmental quality committee of the City-County Planning Council of Marin and of the Marin County Comprehensive Health Planning Council's environmental health division. She also is a member of the Marin Conservation League.

She has three school-age children. The family has lived in Marin 11 years.

OBITUARIES

ROSIE HOOD

Rosie Hood of Kentfield, a 50-year Marin resident, died Wednesday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 71.

A native of Canada, she first moved to Point Reyes and then to Kentfield. Her late husband, Edward A. Hood, who died in 1951, owned a dairy ranch near Point Reyes Station for several years. He also was a fireman in Kentfield for about seven years prior to his death.

Mrs. Hood was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael and a former member of the American Red Cross. At one time she did volunteer work at Kent School.

Prior to her illness, she had worked as a babysitter and housekeeper.

Mrs. Hood is survived by a son, Stanley Hood of San Anselmo, and four grandchildren.

No funeral is planned. A memorial service will be held at a time and place to be announced.

KARIN TISCHLER

Funeral for Karin Irons Tischler, 28-year-old San Rafael woman killed Wednesday night in Willits, will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Mrs. Tischler was born in Tulsa, Okla., and grew up and attended schools there. She also attended Stephens College in Missouri.

She had lived in San Rafael the past eight years. Her home was at 1481 Lincoln Avenue.

Until recently, she had been working as a shipping clerk.

Mrs. Tischler is survived by a son, Boyd Gerhard Tischler; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dean Irons of San Rafael; and three grandparents, and a sister, Edith E. Irons of Tiburon.

Inurnment will be private at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

were legitimate," Fraser said. "It was the organized effort at character assassination by people who already knew the answers that upset me."

Fraser, who said his surprise announcement was "completely unplanned," strode to the microphone following the meeting and threw his support "to the only candidate with integrity," Earl F. Dunphy, also an incumbent.

"I felt myself sliding into the muck," Fraser explained today. "I don't fight that way. I fight clean."

It was discussions with Dunphy and O'Connor and persuasion from supporters that changed his mind, Fraser said.

O'Connor said today that "four years of factionalization" resulted in last night's "program of attack and insinuation."

He admitted that the owner of the building that houses his antique and home furnishings shop is Zakessian, a major owner of waterfront property whose development proposal for that land has been rejected by the current council as too tourist-oriented.

He also admitted to receiving six months free rent from Zakessian in return for extensive improvements and remodeling of the structure at a cost of $4,800.

"The tradeoff in rental was for those improvements to bring the building up to code," O'Connor said. "I put up the money and work for the renovation. Receiving a tradeoff in rental is not an uncommon arrangement."

O'Connor also was asked about a contribution in his unsuccessful council campaign two years ago from Fitzsimmons, owner of large acreage on Wolfback Ridge, which he is seeking to subdivide for a housing development.

A $250 contribution from Fitzsimmons is a matter of public record, O'Connor said. "What was not reported were my actions two years hence." He cited his recommendation as a member of a citizens committee that 38 per cent of Wolfback Ridge be included in the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. "I don't think Fitzsimmons was particularly delighted about that." He said he has received no money in this campaign from the developer.

Through questioning, it also was pointed out that O'Connor failed to file a list of his campaign contributions by the Feb. 5 deadline.

Food, Fuel Add Costs To Consumer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With soaring food and fuel prices providing most of the push, consumer prices surged nearly 1 per cent in January, even faster than the sharp climb of several previous months, the Labor Department disclosed today.

The first-of-the-year jump in the Consumer Price Index meant that Americans were paying 9.4 per cent more for goods and services at retail than they were in January, 1973.

That represented the biggest 12-month rise in the cost of living since 1951.

Eighty per cent of the unusually large January rise was caused by higher prices for food and energy. Supermarket food rose 1.6 per cent from December, gasoline and motor oil prices jumped 6 per cent, and fuel oil costs went up nearly 13 per cent.

Retail prices rose in January by 0.9 per cent without adjustments for seasonal factors, and by 1 per cent, with such adjustments.

The increase was the biggest monthly rise since August when prices surged after lifting of a short-term freeze.

The only price declines in the January report were for clothing and used cars.

The consumer price report followed disclosure a week ago that wholesale prices, also led by leaping food and fuel prices, spurted in January by 3.5 per cent, indicating that more increases would be filtering down directly to consumers in weeks and months ahead.

Other economic developments:

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz indicated today he felt it was a good idea for consumers to boycott goods they believe are too high. He said "that's the kind of reaction" that has an effect on prices, citing a beef boycott last year.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said the administration had made a mess of the economy and served notice that workers would be seeking at least 10 per cent catch-up wage raises this year. The labor organization said consumer prices had risen at twice the rate they did before wage-price controls were imposed in 1971.

The administration sent Congress a proposal that would result in lifting controls when present authority for them expires April 30, while seeking to give the Cost of Living Council power to keep an eye on inflation through 1975.

Shultz conceded this morning, on the NBC-TV Today Show, that the "inflation is a terrific problem" while the energy crisis is also creating greater unemployment. He said the administration has standby plans to speed up public works projects as one means of dealing with high level joblessness.

The charges stem from his alleged failure to report a gross income of $24,702 in 1969 and $33,200 in 1970.

that the money, in small unmarked bills, be placed in plastic bags, but now wants it delivered in "medium size" suitcases.

The caller stressed that Murphy would be opening the suitcases and he didn't want any "hanky panky."

Conroy said the FBI was not willing to release the name of the woman who served as the intermediary, but said she had been very cooperative. The agent said he did not know whether she would be the same one who would be contacted in the next call.

Conroy said it was up to the newspaper as to who made the money drop, but said the ransom "is being prepared."

Conroy was asked whether he had any message for the kidnapers, and replied: "We are cooperating, both the FBI and the Atlanta Constitution, and we intend to cooperate in every respect so that Reg Murphy will be returned safely."

The abductors had laid down an ultimatum that they wanted their latest demands broadcast on the air within 20 minutes. Conroy said the intermediary had contacted the FBI immediately, and the FBI had tried to comply, but was a "few minutes".

In a tape recording received by the Constitution Murphy said the group abducted him because it felt the American news media have become too "leftist and too liberal," and they intended to do something about it.

A transcript of most of the tape was relesed by the Constitution last night, but a 30-second segement was withheld.

Woman Reports An Attack Try

A woman hitchhiking from San Francisco to Marin has reported to sheriff's deputies that a motorist who picked her up tried to rape her on a back road in the Tennessee Valley area.

According to deputies, the woman said that the driver, a white man in his 20s in a black and green Pontiac, drove her to Tennessee Valley Road at about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

He tried to assault her, but she managed to struggle away and get out of the car, deputies said.

Dayan's Decision To Quit Is Final

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Defense Minister Moshe Dayan has made a "final" decision not to join Prime Minister Golda Meir's new government, a defense ministry source said today.

Dayan will support the next government bat he will not take the job of defense minister because "he doesn't believe that in the present emergency situation the country faces there should be a minority government," the source said.

"His decision not to take the job of defense minister is final," the source reported.

Mrs. Meir met with Dayan today in attempts to change his mind, but "nothing came out of it," according to the source.

Dayan, under fire over Israel's handling of the 1973 Middle East War, has threatened to resign and push for new elections because of Labor's refusal to bring the right wing Likud bloc into the government.

Transport Minister Shimon Peres, a colleague of Dayan's in the Rafi faction of the Labor alignment, also will not join the next cabinet, political sources said.

Mrs. Meir hopes to have the National Religious party rejoin her coalition, avoiding a minority government, but party Secretary Zvi Bernstein said today it would not compromise on the issue of defining who is a Jew.

"This is not too much of a sacrifice for the alignment to make if it wants to have a stable government," Bernstein said.

Officials of Mrs. Meir's Labor party met until late last night with religious party leaders in an abortive attempt to put together a coalition with a majority of the 120-seat Knesset (parliament), political sources said.

Mrs. Meir has refused to bargain with Likud, which holds 39 seats, and vowed instead to form a 58-seat minority government—the first in Israel's 25-year history.

The coalition, made up of Mrs. Meir's Labor group, affiliated Arab legislators and the Independent Liberal party, would have a majority 68 votes if the religious party joined the government.

Labor party Secretary General Aharon Yadlin said three cabinet seats—the ministries of interior, health and religious affairs—filled by the religious party in the old government would be kept open to lure the group back into the coaltion.

The religious party wants the government to issue a statute defining a Jew under strict Orthodox traditions. The measure, barring state recognition of Conservative and Reform conversions, might have a bearing on the admission of Israeli immigrants.

Mrs. Meir, whose party lost strength in the Dec. 31 elections, has until Wednesday to inform President Ephraim Katzir of the cabinet members in her new government.

Israeli Troops Begin Final Phase Of Pullout

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli troops began pulling back to a new defense line in the Sinai Desert today, starting the final phase of the withdrawal agreement worked out by U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Israeli soldiers jumped onto jeeps and halftracks for the fifth stage of the pullback after giving up a 560-square-mile bulge on the west bank of the Suez Canal seized from Egypt during the 1973 Middle East War.

Israel, under the last withdrawal phase, has until March 5 to pull its troops into the Sinai to a string of "Kissinger Line" desert defense outposts 13 miles east of the Suez Canal.

In exchange, Egypt has been cutting back its forces on the east bank of the 102-mile-long waterway and has been pulling surface-to-air missiles out of the Sinai.

Kissinger, who worked out the 40-day Suez disengagement accord Jan. 18, was scheduled to fly to the Middle East next week in an attempt to get Israel and Syria to separate their forces along the tense Golan Heights truce lines.

In Cairo, political sources said Egypt and Libya have healed a rift in their relations and planned unity talks next month.

Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy, a critic of Egypt for signing the troop pullback pact with Israel, visited Cairo last Monday to apologize for past attacks.

The Israelis held the Suez Canal's west bank for 129 days before handing the region over to U.N. forces at noon Wednesday. Egyptian troops moved into the evacuated area six hours later.

Lt. Eli Cohen, 24, the first Israeli paratrooper to reach the west bank during last October's 17-day war, was the last soldier to cross into Sinai after lowering the blue and white Star of David flag from a field pole.

The Israelis, singing, shouting, dancing, crossed over a rock and earth causeway across the canal in a joyous exodus from Egypt that meant demobilization for some.

Snowstorm, Winds To 40 MPH Hit Nation's Upper Midsection

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A snowstorm accompanied by winds of more than 40 miles an hour slammed into northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin today, closing schools and roads and halting air traffic at O'Hare International Airport, the nation's busiest air terminal.

Power was reported cut in Kenosha County, Wis., where officials said the storm reached blizzard proportions.

Highway traffic on expressways and tollways leading into the Chicago metropolitan area from the north and west was halted shortly before the start of the morning rush hours, and many motorists were stranded along the way.

Traffic at Chicago's O'Hare was halted for at least 30 minutes to permit snowplows to clear runways. Flights were diverted to airports as far away as Minneapolis and Pittsburgh.

The storm moved in behind heavy rains. The snow was wet and was difficult to move because of its weight.

Up to six inches of snow were forecast by the National Weather Service in some areas with winds of between 20 and 30 miles per hour prevailing through most of the day before some relief was expected.

Another snowstorm blanketed northern Michigan, closing several schools in the Upper Peninsula after an overnight fall of between six and eight inches. Up to four inches of new snow also fell in northern parts of Lower Michigan, causing hazardous driving conditions. Dozens of schools were closed.

Blizzards in Iowa dumped as much as eight inches of snow in the northern portion of the state in a storm that was moving eastward and touching southern Minnesota. Power cuts and school closings were reported along the way, and warnings went up for motorists.

Tornadoes late yesterday ripped portions of the South causing injuries in Mississippi and extensive damage in Texas.

At least 10 persons remained hospitalized today in Mississippi after a tornado dipped down in Monticello, Miss. Four persons were admitted to University Hospital in Jackson, Miss., while six others were admitted to Lawrence County Hospital in Monticello. One person, Mrs. Inez Wells, was listed in critical condition. The other nine persons were not seriously injured.

Charles Birdsong, the owner of the wrecked service station, said "I saw Shakey's (Pizza Parlor) coming down and I said to myself it's every man for himself. I dived behind this here brick wall. Everthing was going so fast I didn't know what the devil to do but get out of the way."

The National Weather Service today said the worst was over in the Texas and Mississippi area. The early morning skies were clear.

Rain fell to the south of the snow from east central Missouri across the Ohio Valley, and rain and snow continued from central and northern Nevada northward and into the northern Rockies.

Temperatures early today ranged from zero at Grand Fork, N.D., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

GAZER'S GUIDE

Mars To Be In Moon's Vicinity

By DR. T.D. NICHOLSON
Director, The American Museum of Natural History, New York
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

March 2 — Mercury and Jupiter are in conjunction this morning, close together about twelve degrees to the right of the sun. They will be rising too late to be seen, however. Saturn is very close to the bright, waxing gibbous moon this evening. At 7 p.m., local daylight time, when the moon is nearest to Saturn, the planet will be covered (an occultation) for viewers in the northern regions of North America and Europe. Later in the night, the moon will be seen to separate slowly to the left from Saturn as both move westward (to the right) across the sky.

March 6 — The moon is at perigee, the point in its orbit where it is nearest to earth.

March 8 — Mercury, having passed between earth and sun, becomes stationary in right ascension and resumes its normal (eastward) motion among the stars.

March 17 — The reddish planet, Mars, has been moving closer to the reddish star, Aldebaran, in Taurus. They are nearest tonight, about equal in brightness, Mars the higher of the two. Mars will move away to the left (east) after this.

March 20 — Venus and the moon rise about two hours before the sun this morning. From rising until Venus disappears in the dawn brightness, they will be quite close together, with very bright Venus just to the right and above the slender crescent of the waning moon.

The winter season ends and spring begins today in the Northern Hemisphere, when the sun arrives at the Vernal Equinox at 8:07 p.m., local daylight time. Since late last September, the sun has been located over the Southern Hemisphere. Today it moves north of the Equator, bringing longer days and shorter nights to Northern Hemisphere areas.

March 21 — Mercury and Jupiter are again in conjunction, the third time in less than two months. Triple conjunctions such as this are reasonably rare: they occur when a faster moving planet, such as Mercury, catches a slower one (Jupiter — farther from the sun and therefore moving more slowly in its orbit) at about the time when the faster planet goes through its retrograde (westward) motion. Mercury moved eastward past Jupiter in late January, began its retrograde motion in mid-February as it swung between earth and sun, passed Jupiter going west in early March: ended its westward loop a week later: and then moved east past Jupiter again today. Unfortunately, Jupiter and Mercury are both well below the horizon at 2 p.m., local daylight time, when their conjunction takes place. But you may be able to see them quite close to each other tomorrow morning.

March 21-22 — Well worth getting up for one of these mornings will be the sight of Jupiter and Mercury, very close to each other and near the rising crescent moon, below the moon on the morning of the 21st, to its right on the 22nd. Moonrise is about after twilight has begun. It would be best to look about 4:15 to 4:30, local daylight time, after the three bodies have climbed a bit into the sky, but before the dawn light hides Mercury and Jupiter. The brighter of the two planets is Jupiter.

March 23 — Mercury is at its greatest westerly elongation, its greatest distance to the right of the sun in the morning sky. This is not a favorable elongation, however, in the sense that Mercury's position is so far south of the equatorial plane that it will not be very high in the sky at sunrise. It may still be seen, low in the east about a half hour before sunrise, today and for a few days afterward.

March 29 — Mars and Saturn are near each other tonight, with the crescent moon moving between them. Mars is to the right of the moon. Saturn to the left and closer. The moon passed Mars at about 6 a.m., local daylight time, this morning it will pass Saturn at about 2 a.m., local daylight time, tomorrow. Both planets will have been occulted (covered) by the moon, but not for viewers in North America.

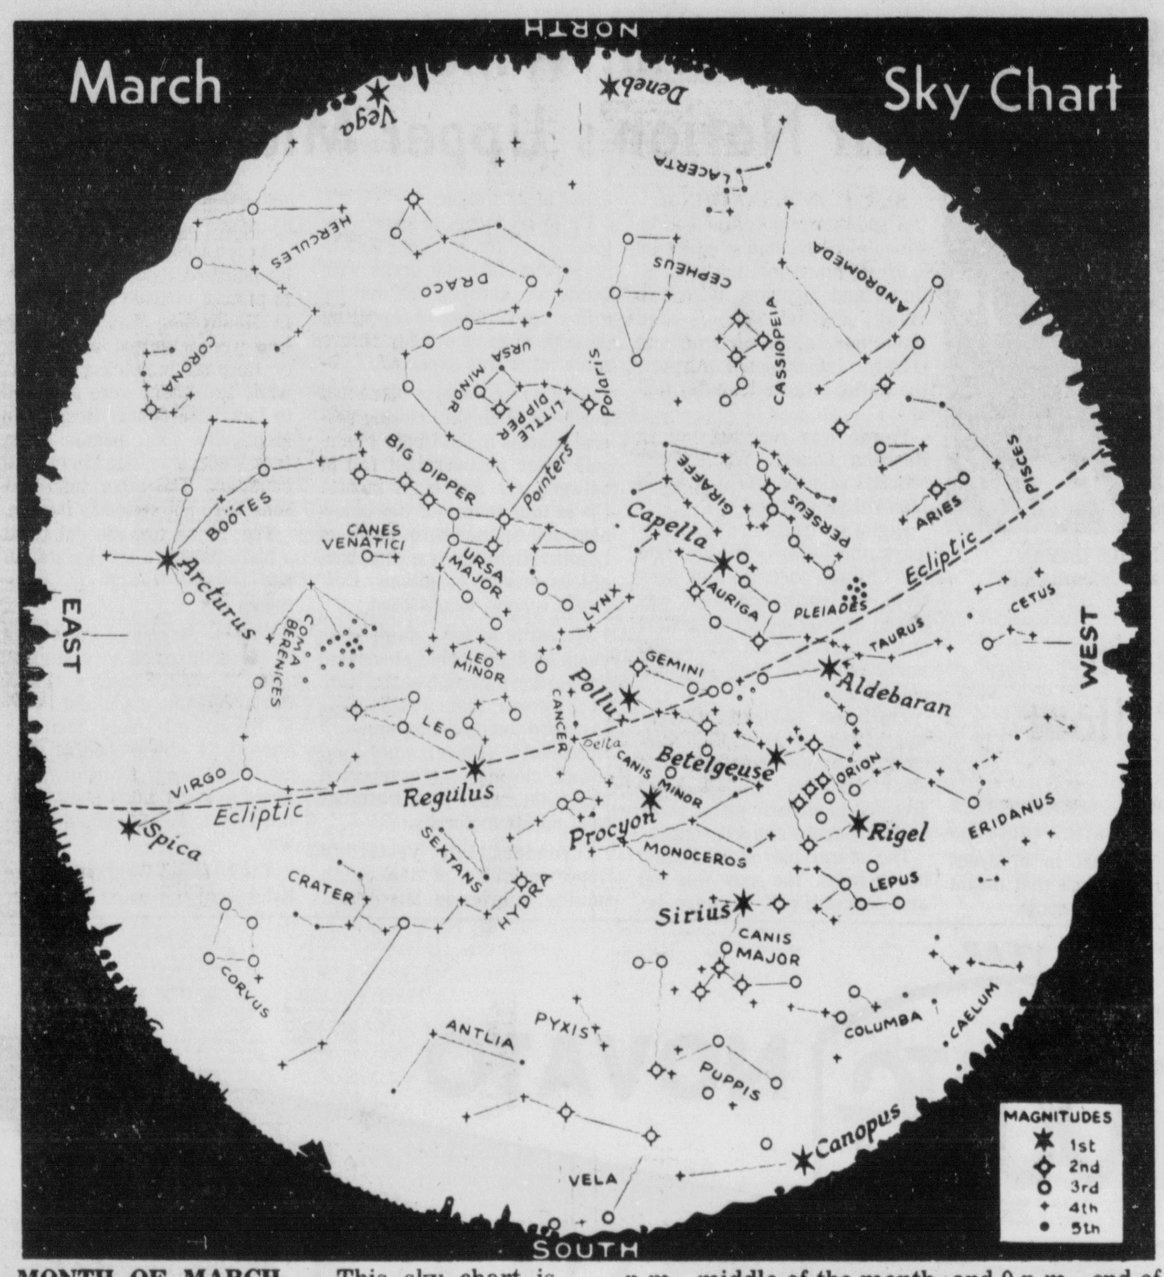

All month — Mars and Saturn remain in the evening sky, both well up in the south at dusk, both setting before midnight. The two planets will be moving closer together during the month. Saturn is the brighter planet, to the left.

In the morning sky, Venus is outstanding in the Southeast from about two and a half hours before sunrise until it fades in the dawn. Jupiter and Mercury are also morning stars, but difficult to see since they rise in the early twilight. Late in the month, however, Jupiter will be rising earlier and may be seen closer to the horizon, to the left of and below Venus, shortly after dawn.

Fourth Suit Is Filed In Rabies Case

Two Point Reyes Station veterinarians have accused the county of negligence in connection with last spring's rabies scare, and asked $500,000 each in damages.

John D. Zimmerman and Donald E. Hansen filed a damage suit Wednesday in Marin Superior Court, the fourth such lawsuit.

Zimmerman and Hansen were hired last May to treat an Arabian stallion and other horses on the Mar-Ghi Ranch in Nicasio, but when the stallion became ill and was destroyed its brain was sent to the county health department for a rabies test.

The test proved negative, but six weeks later a second horse became ill, rabies was discovered, and a retest of the first horse's brain proved positive.

The veterinarians claimed county officials "carelessly and negligently. . . failed to correctly inform those persons. . . exposed to the contaminated animal that said animal was in fact contaminated with rabies."

Because of the long incubation period of rabies, the veterinarians and five other persons exposed to the sick horses may not know until this summer if they contracted the deadly disease.

Inland Biology Group Will Meet

Approximately 40 persons from the National Science Foundation are scheduled to attend the meeting of the Organization of Inland Biological Field Stations tomorrow and Sunday at the Pacific Marin Station at Dillon Beach.

In addition to discussions, those attending will tour the University of the Pacific's station and tape a trip on Tomales Bay.

State Offer Is Tied To Bond Victory

The state Department of Parks and Recreation will give Stinson Beach $200,000 for its proposed waste disposal system if California voters approve a state bond measure June 4.

The pledge came in a letter from William Penn Mott Jr., director of the department, to Proctor Jones, president of the Stinson Beach County Water District.

Mott said his department supports the district's plans to build a $2.5 million treatment project for the seaside community. The project would include facilities to handle wastes from Stinson State Beach.

On March 5 voters in the community will be asked to approve an application for a $1.9 million state loan, as well as a hike in the property tax ceiling from 78 to 98 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The state Water Resources Control Board yesterday approved the loan if the voters elect to accept it.

The tax rate hike will finance Stinson's share of construction costs, estimated at $239,000.

Mott said the state money will be available if the $250 million Proposition 1, the State Beach, Park, Recreational and Historical Facilities Bond Act, passes.

PUC Won't Reopen Probe Of Nuclear Plant Design

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The California Public Utilities Commission said yesterday it had rejected a request to reopen proceedings involving the San Onofre nuclear generating plant's emergency core cooling system.

In turning down the request which was filed last year by The People's Lobby, the PUC said again it lacked jurisdiction over the cooling system.

The Atomic Energy Act of 1954, the PUC noted, "grants exclusive jurisdiction to the Atomic Energy Commission over the design, fabrication, installation, and operation of such emergency core cooling system."

The PUC also dismissed the complaint originally filed by The People's Lobby in 1971 requesting the PUC to order operations of the generating plant halted because of alleged flaws in the design of the cooling system.

Equity Funding Fraud Is Massive

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The $2 billion Equity Funding scandal, the biggest insurance fraud in U.S. history, is even greater than had been believed, and of such magnitude that its full scale may never be known, according to a court appointed trustee.

Equity Funding Corp. of America, once regarded as one of the fastest growing and most lucrative financial firms in the United States, was actually hundreds of millions of dollars in debt, and had made no profits for many years, said Robert M. Loeffler.

The corporation may never have made any profits, Loeffler said.

The spectacular financial "success" it enjoyed appears to have been "a fiction concocted by certain members of EFCA's former management," he said.

In a report to be filed today with the U.S. district court here, Loeffler said the corporation's books are such a shambles that accurate information on some of its operations and those of some of its subsidiaries is impossible to ascertain.

The scandal broke last April with the discovery of a bizarre scheme involving $2 billion worth of insurance policies "sold" to fictitious persons that existed only in the computer files of a subsidiary, Equity Funding Life Insurance Co.

"The unhappy truth is that they (the insurance disclosures) revealed but a portion of an enormous securities fraud, appalling in duration and ultimate magnitude," Loeffler said yesterday.

Loeffler was appointed bankruptcy trustee of the corporation by U.S. District Judge Harry Pregerson and the insurance subsidiary was taken over by state insurance officials. Loeffler made public yesterday the report he said would be filed with the judge today.

Loeffler, who has acted as the company's chief executive for the past 10 months, said he is also writing a report detailing all the illegitimate, fraudulent activities of the corporation and the identities of the individuals involved.

But, he said, that report will take another six months to complete.

A federal grand jury here has already indicted 22 executives on 105 counts, and a county grand jury in Chicago, where the firm was incorporated, indicted 22 persons on 95 counts of stock fraud conspiracy.

Civil suits by stockholders and others have been filed in courts throughout the nation demanding billions of dollars in damages. The case is expected to be before state and federal courts, civil and criminal, for years to come.

Equity's previous management reported that as of the end of 1972, the corporation had a stockholder's equity—a surplus of assets over liabilities—of more than $143 million.

Actually, Loeffler said, so far as a court-ordered audit can determine, on that date the corporation's liabilities exceeded its assets by $42 million—$185 million off the reported figure.

And that, he said, does not include all the debts now owed by the corporation, including $1.4 million in trade claims and any damages that may be won in the dozens of lawsuits.

The key to the scandal was a scheme that involved inflating the insurance subsidiary's books by carrying policies sold to non-existent persons. Investigators said the figures were used to falsely increase the value of the firm's stock, and the future "income" from the fictitious "policyholders" was sold for cash to other insurance companies, who are expected to be among the chief victims.

In addition, Loeffler said yesterday the corporation carried on its books $80 million of supposed assets that were "nothing but bookkeeping entries," including bogus notes receivable from a dummy corporation in Lichtenstein, nonexistent commercial paper and phony capitalized costs for oil drilling that never occurred.

The corporation apparently failed to report its liability from borrowed cash for at least the past nine years, the report said, apparently reflecting the borrowed money as an asset instead of a liability, or using loans from banks as a "free credit" to inflate earnings figures.

However, Loeffler reported, a number of subsidiaries were untouched by scandal, and the corporation "can and should be reorganized" as a new company.

Equity funding stock soared to $108 a share at one point, then plummeted to $14 as word of the scandal spread, before the Securities and Exchange Commission halted trading in it.

Mock Funeral Held For River

WEAVERVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — About 90 high school students yesterday conducted a mock funeral on the Trinity River near here as a symbolic protest to what they called the death of the river.

The two busloads of students, all members of Roger Hardisten's conservation classes at Trinity High School, buried dead steelhead fish, their eggs and sediment during the funeral.

As the Trinity High School Band played a funeral march, a spokesman for the class told newsmen that the Trinity River Dam Project has ruined the river's natural fish habitat. The students blamed the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, which controls flows in the river.

Former KQED Official Picked For Board Spot

Richard O. Moore, former director of educational television station KQED, has been appointed to the board of the Muir Beach Community Services District by a unanimous vote of the other directors.

Moore, now a freelance film maker, who lives on Seascape Drive, was selected at a meeting Wednesday, according to director Janet Stump. He will replace Stephen Pettigrew who is resigning because he is moving to Santa Clara County. Pettigrew was elected to a four-year term on the board in November. He had served on the board before his election as an appointed member.

The other applicant for Pettigrew's seat was Calvin Garrison, who also ran in last November's election. Garrison long has opposed board policies.

KIDNAP VICTIM'S MESSAGE

Space Photo May Show Noah's Ark

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A tiny dot on a photograph made by a U.S. space satellite may be a picture of Noah's Ark, according to Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah.

Speaking at a meeting of the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping yesterday, Moss said photos made by the Earth Technology Satellite (ERTS) supported evidence that an object about 14,000 feet up the side of Mt. Ararat was the ark.

"ERTS photographs taken from 450 miles above the Earth show a formation at the lower end of the satellite's resolution capability which appears to be foreign to other materials found on the mountain," said Moss, who is chairman of the Senate Space Committee.

"It's about the right size and shape to be the ark," he said.

Moss quoted from a "confidential memorandum" he received from Dr. John Montgomery, a professor at Trinity Divinity School in Deerfield, Ill.

The professor, who has been investigating the possibility that the remains of the ark are on the mountain, located in eastern Turkey near the Soviet-Iranian border, is seeking permission to take an expedition to Mt. Ararat.

"Dr. Montgomery believes the ERTS imagery further corroborates mounting evidence that the object on the mountain top is the ark," the senator said.

Skylab 3 Crewmen Said Proof Many Could Take Space Flight

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 3 astronauts returned to Earth in such good shape doctors believe one out of every 10 Americans could easily fly in and adjust to space.

Although Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue spent 84 days in space—a month longer than any other humans—they returned two weeks ago in better shape than the two previous crews.

Carr, Gibson and Pogue were to meet with newsmen today for the first time since they splashed down Feb. 8. They have been in semiquarantine most of the last two weeks so they could slowly readapt to Earth germs after the somewhat sterile atmosphere of the space station.

Dr. W. Royce Hawkins, deputy director of life sciences at the Johnson Space Center, said yesterday although some guidelines would be needed to screen passengers for the space shuttle flights next decade they would not be as strict as for astronauts.

"I would say that 10 per cent, 10 out of every 100 people on the street would be readily acceptable physically to fly," Hawkins said at a news conference.

Hawkins said cardiac problems would be the major restriction.

"There would have to be some restriction. We can't just open it up to just anybody like an airline," he said. "We'll have to develop criteria and standards for people to be flown, but I have no doubts the standards can be lower than what we have used to select our astronaut corps by."

Hawkins said increasing exercise to an hour and a half daily for the men was the major reason Carr, Gibson and Pogue returned to their preflight physical condition within four days—much faster than the others.

It took the Skylab 1 crewmen 21 days to readapt to gravity after their 28-day mission and the Skylab 2 pilots needed nine days following their 59-day flight in which they increased their exercise to an hour compared to a half hour for the first crew.

Political Kidnaper Executions Favored By Attorney General

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Attorney General William Saxbe says there is no question of amnesty for political kidnapers and he thinks they should be executed.

Saxbe told a news conference that "America is now coming face to face with the problem we've seen in many areas of the world—hijackings and political kidnapings," Saxbe told a news conference yesterday. "There is a worldwide trend toward terrorism which we are all aware of."

Terrorists must be dealt with sternly, he said, discussing the kidnaping of Patricia Hearst by the Symbionese Liberation Army.

"These terrorists will do just as much as they think they can get away with, and it's a problem that must be met head on. They will be brought to justice," he vowed.

"I don't think amnesty is an element in this. Certainly we would not be in a position to grant amnesty to any kind of violent crime," Saxbe said.

"I personally feel that kidnaping and crimes that usually result from kidnaping are heinous crimes that should be covered by the death penalty. The deterent to crime is apprehension and prosecution of criminals, and I personally feel that nothing should stand in the way."

Saxbe held a joint news conference with FBI Director Clarence Kelley.

Kelley said he was "not at this point fearful that this (political kidnaping) will become a wave and proliferate throughout the country."

HE'S NO FANCY SHEIK

Looking somewhat like an Arabian sheik, Fred W. Hueslsmann, a quality control inspector at Marin Marietta in Littleton, Colo., checks tools and parts that go into the building of the Viking spacecraft, which is scheduled to be launched in 1975 for a probe of Mars. The "clean look" is needed in the highly technical assembly room.

Three Die, Including Hijacker, In Baltimore Airport Gunbattle

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A Delta Airlines copilot, a security agent and an apparent hijacker were killed and a pilot was critically wounded today during a gunbattle at Baltimore-Washington International Airport. Eight passengers aboard a DC9 escaped unhurt, after being terrorized by the wildly shooting intruder.

What was identified by the FBI as "an explosive device found in an attache case carried by the suspect was disarmed" after the gunfight. Special agent in charge, Thomas H. Farrow said it had "the smell of gasoline."

Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) officials said "an unidentified white male broke through the security gate, shot the security guard, perhaps with his own gun, went to the cockpit of the plane, hit the pilot, shot him and shot the copilot, maybe three times."

The copilot, Fred Jones, 32, of Dallas, Tex., died at the University of Maryland Hospital in Baltimore two hours later.

Surgery was being performed on the critically wounded pilot, Reese D. Lofton, of Fort Worth, Tex.

The dead security agent was identified as Neil George Ramsburg of nearby Howard County, Md.

One of three stewardesses aboard the plane at the time of the shooting suffered a back injury getting the passengers to safety. She was in fair condition at North Arundel Hospital.

"We believe it was an attempted hijacking," said Ed Mallard, a spokesman for Delta Airlines.

Farrow said a man, described as heavy set, white, about 43, who was not a passenger, walked up behind Ramsburg who was screening passengers for Delta flight 523, scheduled to depart for Atlanta at 7:15 a.m. EDT.

"He shot Ramsburg several times in the back of the head with a 22 caliber revolver," Farrow said. "There were screams 'he's been shot' and Charles Troyer, an Anne Arundel county police officer, ran to Ramsburg's body, took his gun, a .357 magnum and spotted the suspect going down the gangway. The officer fired a shot at the plane," Farrow said, but too late for the hijacker had gotten inside.

Charles Rosch, one of the passengers, said he was on the boarding ramp when he heard a shot.

"Here's this man running down toward us with a gun in his hand. He said 'run' and I did."

Farrow said that once the man got aboard the plane he confronted the three stewardesses, eight passengers, pilot and copilot and ordered: "Fly this plane out of here." He fired a shot into the cockpit and one in the direction of the stewardesses, Farrow said.

After firing another shot and warning that the next one "will be at a head," he then shot the pilot and copilot, grabbed a woman passenger, and took her into the cockpit. "Help me fly this plane," Farrow quoted him as saying. He then again fired shots into the pilot and copilot.

Farrow said the man grabbed another woman by the hair and at that point officer Troyer spotted the man through a porthole of the plane. He fired three shots through the window at the hijacker, killing him.

Farrow said the explosive device was discovered by a specially trained dog.

"There's no question we would have had a major catastrophe aboard the plane if it had gone off," he said.

It was the first hijackiing attempt in the United States in more than a year. The last one, in January 1973, was also at Baltimore-Washington International Airportwhenamentallyderanged man seized a plane but was talked into surrendering.

Off-Highway Vehicle Owners Must Pay Fee

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Department of Motor Vehicles yesterday reminded nearly one million unregistered off-highway vehicles owners they must pay their registration fees by July 1.

Department Director Robert Cozens said such vehicles used to be exempt from registration. But he said a 1973 law has eliminated all registration exemptions.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Campaign Spending Limit Asked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation limiting campaign spending and providing partial public financing of elections has been introduced by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti.

Moretti, a Democratic candidate for governor, yesterday said the measure would cost about $8 to $10 million a year or about $1 per voter each year.

"This bill represents an attempt to put into public focus the entire elective process so there can be no doubt whatsoever that big money does not have an undue influence on leaders the people elect," Moretti said.

The Van Nuys lawmaker's bill (AB3214) would limit general election campaign spending for governor to $1.7 million, with up to two-thirds coming from taxpayer funds. The limit for assemblymen would be $39,248.

The measure also limits private contributions to a candidate for statewide office to $5,000 and to $500 for any other affected office.

The amount of public funding a candidate could receive in the general election would be determined by the size of his primary vote. Funding in the primary would be determined by the number of signatures a candidate could gather on a petition.

LAND PLANNING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A five-bill legislative package to provide comprehensive land use planning in California was unveiled today by Assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Santa Monica.

The legislation is the product of 1 ½ years of hearings throughout the state by the Assembly Committee on Planning, Land Use and Energy which is headed by Priolo.

The bills were designed to avert possible food shortages, environmental threats and other land use problems "before they fester into crisis proportions," Priolo said.

The keystone measure would create a state Policy Planning Council, headed by the governor, that would have overall control over state land use planning.

The council would be composed of the current coastal commissions, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, the state Lands Division, the Tahoe Regional Compact Commission and several other government agencies.

Another bill requires the council to develop an agricultural policy "to avoid the potential next crisis in the nation—feeding the population," Priolo said.

Other measures call for urban planning and the collection of data from throughout California to assist in the land use projects.

AUTO DEALERS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Motor vehicle dealers who falsify the model years of cars or trucks they sell would be subject to possible loss or suspension of their licenses under a bill introduced yesterday in the Assembly.

"We have had reports from purchasers of these 'updated' motor vehicles who learn after buying a vehicle that it is really a prior year's model, and consequently is worth less money on a trade-in or when reselling it," said Assemblyman Ken Meade, D-Oakland, author of the bill (AB3207).

FUNDING BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation requiring lawmakers proposing expensive new programs to include methods of financing them was introduced yesterday by freshman Assemblyman Mike D. Antonovich.

The Los Angeles Republican's bill (AB3213) would prohibit either house from passing measures which cost more than $500,000 unless it is accompanied by a recommendation on how to raise the money.

It would not apply to the main budget bill or any measures which already provide for special financing.

PRISON FUNDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate has overwhelmingly voted to add $5.4 million to this year's budget for state correctional facilities, partially to keep pace with increased prison populations.

The measure (SB1683) by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, was approved and sent to the Assembly yesterday on a 32-2 vote, five more than needed. There was little debate.

Deukmejian said $2.3 million of the total would immediately go to the state Youth Authority to cover the cost of growing numbers of inmates while almost $1 million would go to the state prison system for similar reasons.

The remainder, he said, would cover the cost of additional administrative duties required by a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision as well as making up for loss of federal support for prison guards.

College Governors Approve Bond Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A $250 million bond proposal to provide for college construction through 1980 has been approved by the California Community Colleges Board of Governors.

The proposal now must be submitted to and approved by the state legislature before appearing on the November, 1974 general election ballot.

"Enrollment trends for community colleges indicate a rate of growth greater than any other segment of higher education and impose great demands on available facilities," said Chancellor Sidney W. Brossman.

The bond would be used for construction, remodeling, site acquisitions and equipment and would account for the state's share of community college financing.

The state bond funds would be matched with local community college district funds made available through local district permissive taxes, according to the board.

The board also voted yesterday to ask the legislature to suspend attendance requirements for two-year schools hit by the energy crisis.

The resolution asks state lawmakers to temporarily suspend a law which requires a minimum number of 175 attendance days for the colleges each year.

If a school cannot maintain the 175 days it faces loss of state funding. A report submitted earlier to the board said some community colleges would be forced to reduce their operations sharply if the current energy crisis continues.

The board also:

Adopted regulations that will permit seasonal agriculture workers to be exempted from one-year residency requirements and out-of-state tuition.

Petaluma Not Eager For Sewer Hookups

Homeowners outside Petaluma's northern boundary have found the city less than eager to furnish them sewers to replace their often-defective septic tanks.

They were informed by the Petaluma Planning Commission Wednesday night that nothing can be done until the city determines whether there is a real health problem in the area. Even if there is, the residents were told, relief is not guaranteed because the city planning staff believes a sewer district in the area would encourage urbanization, contrary to the Petaluma General Plan.

The area in question is along Petaluma Boulevard North from the city limits to Rainsville Road, and residents complain their septic tanks are no longer adequate. Sonoma County health officials, who claim sewage is often visible in open ditches, say they don't have the manpower to determine if the situation is a health hazard.

The Petaluma Planning Commission also:

REZONING — Approved rezoning from R-1, single-family residential, to PUD, planned unit development, A 7.6-acre tract on the east side of Highway 101 between Lindberg Lane and Stuart Drive, where the Connolly Development Co. plans to build 50 clustered units. Commissioners John Balshaw and M. Patricia Hilligoss voted "no" because the development's density will be 6.75 units per acre, exceeding the six-per-acre specified in the city's environmental design plan.

Bikeways — Accepted from the recreation commission a study recommending the creation of a $1.7 million, 57-mile system of bicycle routes in and around Petaluma.

Inside, Outside Stories Given In Marin Hashish Oil Arrest

A federal narcotics officer yesterday described how he directed an investigation that led to the arrest of four persons and the seizure of $150,000 worth of potent hashish oil.

The Marin Superior Court testimony of Gerritt Van Raam in the trial of William Reed Lane, 28, followed by one day an account of the same events by an undercover informant who set up Lane's arrest.

Lane and three other persons were taken into custody last July after state and federal officers raided Lane's rented $600-per-month home on Belvedere's Corinthain Island.

The testimony of Van Raam, a special agent with the federal narcotics task force in San Francisco, provided a view of the investigation from the outside. But an insider's account was furnished by informant Wesley L. Schlagel.

The tall, blond Schlagel, 26, testified he was involved in smuggling marijuana and cocaine for many years before becoming a paid informant last January.

In exchange for his services, he said, he was given immunity from prosecution and a pledge that the government would not assess him for taxes on his drug profits, which he estimated at $1.5 million.

Schlagel is the chief witness against Lane, on trial on five charges: possessing an ounce of cocaine, selling the drug, possessing four gallons of hashish oil for sale, possessing a pound of marijuana and having a pistol fitted with silencer, all said to have been found at his house.

Schlagel said he had been negotiating with Lane for the purchase of two pounds of cocaine for $29,000, a deal that never was completed.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Girard R. Courteau said the hashish oil was tested by chemists and found to contain "the highest concentration of THC, the active ingredient of marijuana, of any substance ever seized in the United States."

Schlagel told the courtroom how he made at least 15 trips a year to Mexico to smuggle marijuana over a five-year period before he was arrested in 1967 for possessing marijuana. He also said he was "peripherally involved" in smuggling cocaine.

In two of the 20 to 25 cases in which he has been an informant, he was paid $2,600, he said.

Of the other three persons arrested with Lane, charges were dropped against Randee Lou Lindersmith, 27, of Belvedere, and warrants have been issued for the arrest of Carol Millikin, age and address unknown, and Stephen Mallon Royce, 36, of Tamalpais Valley, both of whom disappeared without making court appearances in connection with the case.

Lane's trial is expected to continue another two weeks before Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick.

He was awarded the Order of Lenin and the second gold medal of Hero of Socialist Labor.

"At all posts of party and state work you devote your energy and experience to the selfless service to the cause of Communist construction, to the lofty ideals of Marxism-Leninism," said a congratulatory message from high Soviet agencies.

New Dumbarton Bridge Is Given Commission Nod

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Construction of a new $57 million Dumbarton Bridge across south San Francisco Bay has been approved by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The vote was 18-1 yesterday, with Santa Clara County Supervisor Dan McCorquodale the lone dissenter. Substantial opposition to the bridge has come from that county.

In approving construction, the commission said the state must purchase at least 200 acres of dry land at the edge of the bay now estimated to cost $900,000. The land, needed to restore tidal flow, will replace 76 acres of wetlands that will be filled for new traffic approaches to the bridge.

The state legislature also has approved the bridge's construction and financing, but the project still needs an okay from the Coast Guard, Army Corps of Engineers and Metropolitan Transit Commission.

Extended Housing Program Proposed

A Marin County Housing Authority spokesman has proposed to the Ecumenical Association for Housing a joint effort to provide 3,000 low and moderate-income rental units in the county in a six-year period.

Douglas Meyer of the county authority spoke at the ecumenical association's meeting Wednesday, according to Thomas G. Zeller, association president.

Meyer said the housing authority is considering a plan including land banking to obtain lower-cost building sites, a 1 per cent excise tax on new free-market housing to fund low and moderate-income housing, and cooperation between the housing authority, ecumenical association and other groups in managing the program countywide.

Association delegates questioned whether the program could work in the face of continuing inflation. Meyer replied that if the county wants to meet the housing goals of the countywide plan, "how else but by this cooperative approach can it be done?"

Meanwhile, meeting the same evening to work on goals for the future, the authority board declared it will pursue such a program, according to director Harold Strouss.

Wallace K. Shepherd, authority executive director, reported that housing in Marin is prohibitively expensive and out of the reach of many residents. "The county has no choice but to develop" housing for workers at the lower end of the economic scale, the elderly and fatherless families, he said.

He believes the housing authority should have charge of managing and maintaining such low income housing.

The Ecumenical Association for Housing also:

CORPORATION — Voted to activate the subsidiary Ecumenical Housing Corp., a limited-dividend subsidiary to secure financing for housing projects.

BUDGET — Approved a 1974-75 budget of $48,100, up 20 per cent from this year's total due to employment of a fulltime service manager and establishment of a $2,000 fund for new programs. Member Joseph Martino reported that a campaign will begin next month to raise $8,000 by public contributions.

HILARITA — Received word from the Tiburon Ecumenical Association that the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development will provide rent supplement funds, assuring that some 20 residents of the old Hilarita units will be able to rent apartments in the planned 102-unit project.

SAN RAFAEL — Heard a report that 66 elderly persons toured the Martinelli House, built on Lincoln Avenue by the Catholic Social Service of Marin, on Feb. 9. The new tenants can move in by next week.

NOVATO — Heard that the Novato Planning Commission will hear on Monday the Novato Rotary Club zoning application to build 30 units of housing for the elderly at Second and Olive avenues.

ADJOURNED — To 7:45 p.m. March 20 at the Pilgrim Park community building.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower, recovering from ovarian cyst surgery, is "feeling a whole lot better," a White House spokesman said yesterday.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Novato Approves Restaurant's Expansion Plans

Expansion of McDonald's restaurant in Novato Square has been approved by the Novato Plan Review Committee.

The plans, endorsed Wednesday, call for increasing the indoor seating capacity by adding 768 square feet.

The committee also approved landscape plans for the 79-unit Ignacio Creek townhouse project along Ignacio Boulevard near San Jose Junior High School.

Agency Is Asked On Septic Tanks

Declaring the lack of a sewer system is the main check on explosive development, opponents of the Stinson Beach sewage plan last night called for study of a community district to manage and correct the town's ailing septic tanks.

"Our greatest, most powerful preserver of what we have is no sewer," Ronald E. Wagner told an audience of about 35 persons at a meeting sponsored by Stinson Beach Project.

Although surrounding land will become part of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, existing zoning within the town has the potential for an "internal explosion" that would result in a 200 per cent increase in the number of housing units if the sewer is built, Wagner said.

J. T. Winneberger, a Berkeley consultant on septic tanks and alternate waste disposal systems, suggested the community could establish a septic tank district with a full-time professional manager to oversee the individual systems.

He described most surveys of septic tanks as "measures of human procrastination" because individuals postpone needed repairs. Under tax-supported district management, he said, failing systems would receive prompt attention.

Problems of small lots can be overcome by setting aside vacant lots to be used as leach fields by two or more owners, he suggested. He noted that new toilet designs are being marketed, including one which uses recycled mineral oil to carry away wastes and thus reduces by 40 per cent the amount of household water sent to a leaching field.

Michael D. Sanford, attorney and president of Stinson Beach Project, scoffed at the Regional Water Quality Control Board ban on use of most septic tanks in the community after 1977.

The board's first order to Bolinas to shut off its sewage outfall pipe came in 1963, Sanford said, and "that pipe is still flowing as vigorously as ever."

He suggested the possibility of a series of lawsuits by opponents before the sewage project can be built.

Valentino Agnoli predicted that increased property values and population if the sewer is built would raise taxes, require a new school building and "make it impossible for people to live here with the same kind of income level."

(Agnoli and Wagner are both Stinson Beach residents who oppose the project.)

Robert C. Tartoul, chairman of the meeting, asked the audience to consider "alternatives of management available to the community other than the sewer system." He criticized the septic tank survey commissioned by the Stinson Beach Water Board as "superficial."

The $2.5 million sewage plant and collection system proposed by the Stinson Beach Water Board will go before the voters at a March 5 election. The board has also called an assessment hearing on March 3 for property owners within a proposed assessment district for construction of sewer lines.

Schools Eye Return To Usual Hours

Almost all Marin County school districts that shuffled their classroom hours due to a combination of daylight saving time and late sunrise during the winter, will be going back to normal hours in the next few days.

About half the district heeded parent protests in January, and delayed starting times half an hour because youngsters were on the streets while it was still dark.

The Kentfield and Mill Valley districts already have returned to normal hours; Reed classes will begin half an hour earlier on Monday.

Classes in the Novato elementary schools will begin half an hour earlier on March 4. The high schools had retained their regular schedule when daylight saving time — imposed to conserve fuel — took effect in January.

Larkspur schools also will revert to their regular schedule March 4, beginning 30 minutes earlier.

Bolinas-Stinson School District spokesmen said no decision has been made when their schools will go back on regular hours.

Egger Funds

Fairfax Town Council candidate Frank J. Egger yesterday said he has received $1,058 in campaign contributions to date. He listed campaign expenses at $653.

DON'T LET THE GASOLINE SHORTAGE DRIVE YOU TO A CRISIS OF SMALLER PROPORTIONS.

Yet unlike small cars, Volvo has about the same front seat legroom as a Cadillac de Ville. As much back seat legroom as a Lincoln Continental. And more trunk space than the Pinto and Barracuda combined.

But Volvo isn't just roomy. It's comfortable.

The bucket seats are orthopedically designed to give support to all the contours of the body. Even to the point of having an adjustment that gives the small of your back firmer or softer support.

And in a Volvo, you won't have to gather your courage to enter crowded highways. Its responsive, fuel-injected engine lets you move out into traffic before onrushing traffic moves into you.

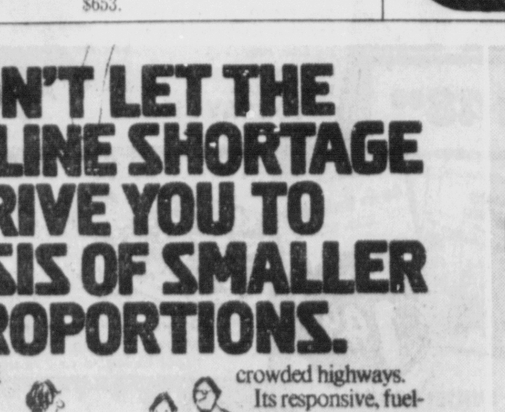

And once you're out there, you'll actually feel the rigidity of Volvo's body—welded into one solid piece of steel with thousands of closely-spaced spot welds.

So instead of overreacting to the gasoline shortage, respond thoughtfully. By getting a Volvo.

That way, you can drive a big car without adding fuel to the energy crisis.

AT MILL VALLEY WORKSHOP

Seminole Patchwork To Be Shown

By BETTY FROST

The patchwork done by the Seminole Indians has become a specialty of Jerry Zarbaugh of Livermore, who will conduct a workshop on the subject from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Mill Valley. The workshop is under the auspices of the Mill Valley Quilt Authority.

About 12 years ago Mrs. Zarbaugh, her husband Scott and their daughter Debbie, were traveling in the Southwest and visited a trading post at Wickenburg, Ariz.

"There I saw a beautiful and unusual shirt made by the Seminole Indians. It was so horrendously expensive that I bought one as a sample and studied it, and later made two more shirts," Mrs. Zarbaugh said in a telephone interview.

The Seminole Indians live in the Everglades in Florida, but the work of many tribes was displayed in the Arizona Indian trading post, Mrs. Zarbaugh explained. The patchwork technique is most frequently used in the classical pieced headbands worn by the Seminoles.

THE PATCHWORK technique involves cutting material in strips, joining them, then cutting a second time and rejoining.

"I look on it as a kind of doodling," Mrs. Zarbaugh said, "and find the method has application for both traditional and modern designs."

The Livermore woman does her own designing and prefers to work with cotton fabric. She is also experimenting with velvet.

"Very little research is available about this work. I have tried to correspond with Seminole Indians, but have never received any answers to my letters. Now I am hoping to go to the Everglades myself to talk to them," Mrs. Zarbaugh said.

Since there is interest in the technique and little is known about it, Mrs. Zarbaugh is considering doing an article about it.

Mrs. Zarbaugh, who has lived in Livermore for 20 years, is employed at the Vallecitos Nuclear Center, operated by General Electric Co., where she is in the marketing department.

THE ZARBAUGH FAMILY members are all craft-oriented. At one time they had 17 spinning wheels in their home. The Zarbaughs took instruction from Valborg (Mama) Gravander of Mill Valley, and they have seven looms and enjoy weaving. Mrs. Zarbaugh recently won an award for jewelry-making in the East Bay and was honored for her needlepoint design. She also teaches needlepoint.

The Seminole Indian patchwork display in Mill Valley will include two shirts and 10 samples, and the artisan will give group instruction and assistance to individuals.

How does she manage such a schedule?

"It is a matter of philosophy," Mrs. Zarbaugh confided. "Years ago my daughter wanted to go on a picnic, but I refused because I had planned to wax the floors. My husband told me our little girl would never remember if the floors were waxed, but she would always remember the fun of a picnic. This incident gave me a basis for assigning priorities."

USING THE technique of the Seminole Indians, Jerry Zarbaugh displays her own patchwork designs. Mrs. Zarbaugh will conduct a workshop on the method in Mill Valley tomorrow.

'NEW YOU' SERIES

Speakers Explore Resource Areas

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Some of Marin County's community resources were explained yesterday at the "New You" series for women at the Novato Library.

Diverse resources of the Marin Association for Mental Health, the Novato Library and the Novato Prehistory Museum were outlined.

Remarking, "It takes a lot of feeling to be a human being," Marilyn Crowell, who is program chairman of the mental health association, showed slides on the association programs.

She said that the mental health association works in three main areas — community education, community services and patient services. Mrs. Crowell added that she expects a program to be started in April for teachers and children regarding normal and abnormal children, titled "How to Talk to Parents."

"It is alcohol, not drugs, this year that is the big problem in the mental health area," she stated.

Napa State Hospital is receiving most of the state patients with mental health problems now, she added.

The mental health association has a person-to-person program in which trained volunteers help persons recovering from mental disorders during their period of adjustment back in the community for a three month period, she said. The volunteers are given a two weeks course to qualify for the program, she explained.

TERESA MILLER, curator of the Novato Prehistory Museum, said that interest in the museum is created by man searching for his past. She said that the museum is attempting to get children interested in its programs.

Martha Heidinger, museum education director, added that the museum is working to involve people in the community. She explained that the museum is trying to preserve areas and said that developers should contact the museum before they dig up an area.

Children at the museum are urged to touch the Indian artifacts there and are taken on a nature walk along Novato Creek to learn how a Coast Miwok Indian did to to support his life, Mrs. Heidinger said.

LIBRARIAN MARTHA Van Etten explained Novato Library services and how the library fits into the county public library system. Open two years, the library users checked out more books in January than at either the county library at Civic Center or in Corte Madera, she said, adding, "Don't let anybody downgrade Novato."

The library has two story hours, one on Wednesdays from 10:30 to 11 a.m. conducted by Mrs. Kathy Sternberg, and another from 11 to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesdays by Mrs. Janet Nelson.

Mrs. Van Etten said that the library has an inter-loan program with Santa Rosa and San Francisco, for which there is a slight fee.

The final program of the New You series will be Thursday, at 10:30 a.m., at the Novato Library. Michaele Sheiner, a licensed clinical social worker in Marin, will speak on "Women in Decision — Independence and Ambivalence."

County Children Well Protected

PITTSBURGH (UPI) - A random survey of 750 children by the Allegheny County Health Department here shows that two-year-olds in the county are better protected against major childhood diseases than tots in other parts of the country.

The survey of children selected from 1971 birth records shows 84 per cent have received the required dosage of oral polio vaccine, compared to 63 per cent nationally.

Cleaning Batiks

Dry cleaning is recommended for batik fabrics, particularly those you have created yourself.

Officers Chosen

Mrs. Jorgen Peterson of Fairfax has been installed new president of the High Twelvettes of Marin. Other new officers for 1974 are Mmes. Harold Lind, vice president: Benjamin Rush, recording secretary: Charles White, treasurer: Arthur Duplisea, corresponding secretary: Roy Bailey, sentinel, and Herbert McKenney, chaplain.

Kite Craftsman Will Be On Jorie's Show

A kite craftsman, a film maker and a conditioning therapist will be guests next week on "Jorie Talks" Monday through Friday at 9:30 a.m. on KTIM.

Heloise Lochman of San Francisco, who designs flyable kites as an art form, will be featured Monday and Tuesday. Filmmaker Leonard S. C. Schwarz of Mill Valley will discuss the new College of Marin film series, "The French Collection," on Wednesday.

"Sexercises in Marin" will be the topic on Thursday with physical therapist Bob Fuller of San Rafael.

Friday the show's host Jorie Parr will discuss James Whitmore's portrayal of humorist Will Rogers. The one-man show will open Tuesday at the Marines' Memorial Theater in San Francisco.

"Jorie Talks" is going to a new, flexible format, which will include live interviews, on the air telephone calls and on the spot taped interviews.

Girl Scout Festival Is Announced

The international friendship festival, "Hands Around the World," will be held March 2 for the girl scouts of Mission San Rafael Association.

The event, held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the San Rafael High School gymnasiums, will involve brownie, junior scout, cadette and senior scout troops from the San Rafael, Marinwood and Lucas Valley areas. Each troop will represent a country in the World Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides with songs, dancing, costumes, foods, arts and crafts, skits, games, demonstrations and exhibits.

Skip Clippenger will lead folk dance groups in the main gym throughout the day. Exhibits and demonstrations will be held in the other gym.

Mrs. Frank G. Klarkowski of Santa Venetia, chairman, said that some 750 girls, their parents and friends are expected.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

The Readers Take Time Out To Answer Number Of Questions

DEAR HELEN:

About the mother who always warns her teen-agers not to "smoke pot or drink" as they go out the door: she's probably the same parent who, when the kids were younger, admonished, "Now Johnny, don't hit Jane on the head with a block," (before Johnny was within hitting distance), then spanked him when her admonition gave him what he thought was a good idea. — H.B.

DEAR HELEN:

I just had to write regarding the letter from the lady whose sister's children, all financially able, did not buy a headstone for her grave.

Helen, I couldn't agree with you more when you answered, big, showy markers mean nothing — it's the loving memory that counts.

But let's take it one step further (or back).

Listen, all you people who still have your parents (or sisters, brothers, husbands, wives for that matter) — if you love them, tell them and show them you do. All the tears you shed after they're gone won't mean a darned thing, if you never let them know you care while they are still around to appreciate it.

The day I read that letter, Helen, I called my daughter in another state, just to say, "I love you!" Naturally we can't go around saying this all the time, but our actions can say it for us.

There is a poem along this theme that I read a long time ago, and its final line goes: "Love me now, while I am living, so I can treasure it."

Amen to that. — MARGARET D. S.

DEAR HELEN:

I am definitely on the side of the woman who thought her sister should have a headstone but whose children ignored her wishes.

It's okay to have big, showy houses, cars, etc., but just don't bother about a headstone for the mother's grave — that might be a little extra money the kids would have to fork over for something outside of their own pleasures!

People who feel this way usually make sure they have a headstone when they're gone. A headstone isn't for "show off." It's a way of telling the world this person is remembered. — Of course it is better to have a loving memory too, if it is truly loving (in this hypocritical world). — S.S.

DEAR HELEN:

A headstone is something like an exclamation point at the end of the sentence: "He lived."

My beloved grandfather's lack of a headstone bothered me for 45 years. His ancestors were in the Revolutionary War. Two towns were named after his family in Pennsylvania and New York. yet his grave was unmarked because the family couldn't afford it.

I now have such a good feeling, knowing this wonderful man has his place in the cemetery. What took me so long I will never know. — LOVED GRANDPA

DEAR HELEN:

Speaking of elderly peoples' love lives, perhaps you've heard this story:

Each night the sweet old couple sat on the porch of the senior citizens' home, rocking and holding hands. There they sat, with hands clasped until they dozed off and were helped to their room.

But one night Grandpa reached for Grandma's hand and it wasn't there. He reached again, but she drew her hand away.

"Not tonight, dear," she chirped. "I've got a headache." — LISTENER

Plight Of The Alcoholic Deserves More Attention

By SANDRA HAGGERTY (Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

SALT LAKE CITY - Public attention has for years been focused on drug addiction and the plight of youthful addicts. But still existing are the continuously swelling ranks of those over 30 suffering from alcohol addiction.

According to available statistics, the number of female alcoholics has risen sharply.

For whites, alcoholism has often been considered the plight of the middle or upper-class woman who sits alone in suburbia. Her husband supports the family and, supposedly, she drinks at home out of boredom, isolation and loneliness.

Few black women alcoholics, though they too drink primarily at home, do so because they are bored with a sheltered, protective home environment.

TAKE CATHY J., 32-year-old mother of four: "I'm not proud of my life, but maybe my story will help some woman out there who thinks it's too late. When you've been at the bottom of hell for half your life, it's almost impossible to believe there is sunlight anywhere."

Cathy was the oldest of a seven-children welfare family. "My mother and father never divorced, but we just never saw him. My mother was always hustling money. She had no education, and the welfare check wasn't enough."

Drinking became a regular activity for Cathy at age 16.

"I was dating Larry, my future husband, and he would always want me to have a 'sip' with him. That was the thing to do in those days. I don't blame him, though, but after a while I liked drinking. It gave me courage to do things I couldn't do otherwise."

Cathy became pregnant, and Larry married her. "Not because he wanted to but, in those days, if you got your ole lady p.g., you got married."

Larry couldn't find a job, so they lived with her family. Soon the frustration of caring for an active infant, wanting to continue her teen-age relationships with her girlfriends and increased fighting with her husband and her mother became too much to cope with. Cathy began drinking "for purpose, not for pleasure."

THEIR THIRD child was born just before her husband divorced her. Afraid and lonely, she entered into another relationship which resulted in a fourth pregnancy.

"I took some pills to abort myself, but it didn't work. I was drinking and I fell down the stairs. My baby was born partially paralyzed."

Over the years, her ex-husband, mother and children begged her to go to Alcoholics Anonymous, but at first she refused to admit she was an alcoholic. Later, she felt she was too far gone to change the direction of her life. The sobering moment came when her 12-year-old daughter turned herself in to the police, begging to be put in jail for protection from one of Cathy's drinking companions.

Today Cathy resides at a halfway house for alcoholic women. She has accepted that she is and will always be an alcoholic. She cannot drink and survive, and now survival is important to her.

Her four children are in foster homes, but she visits three of them regularly. She works in a local cleaning establishment.

"Now, I don't even consider 'turning a trick' to get money for a bottle. My older children are particularly proud of me for that.

"Kids always know what their parents are doing, you know, no matter how secretive they try to be. And sloppy drunks aren't known for finesse and good taste."

Cathy now displays a sense of humor that has long been dormant.

SHE HOPES eventually to have enough emotional stability and money to maintain a home for herself and her children.

"I may have lost one of my daughters," she said, tightening her jaw bones. "She had the worst time of it while I was drinking. When I think how I let her down, I think about my drinking, how it took over my life. She has every right to be ashamed of me and angry. My greatest hope is for us to be friends one day."

Women Motorists Convince Detroit They're A Power Behind The Auto

By CHARLOTTE FANCETT
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

DETROIT — Not long ago the most male chauvinistic industry in the country, the American carmakers, felt women thought about cars only in terms of their favorite shade of sky-blue-pink.

What did women know about the mechanics of a car? They certainly didn't know how to drive, according to the hierarchy in the front office. Give the "girls" a pretty pink toy with baby-blue interiors and dress it up with chrome. That will make them happy.

What the industry failed to see was the thousands of American women driving the ugliest of all little foreign cars. The Volkswagen Beetle was a car they could afford to own. What's more, it was easy to drive and park. Ford got the message when it introduced the Mustang. Women became its devoted fans.

BY NOW sales charts revealed women were asking for such features as automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes — before the subject of colors and interiors was even discussed. They were demanding safer cars, better tires, greater visibility.

Women made it known they weren't going to walk into a dealership that looked dirty or where the salesmen treated them like a "know-nothing dame." Furthermore, they wouldn't let their husbands go there either.

"Clean up your operation . . . or else," the manufacturers warned their dealers. Statistics revelaed 75 per cent of all new-car purchases were influenced by women.

But the greatest shock of all was the disclosure that women were in charge of having more than 50 per cent of all cars serviced. That meant cleaning up the back shop too.

Dealers began seeking women customers through such enticements as offering "powder-puff" mechanics classes. Chrysler Corporation began sponsoring WOW (Women on Wheels) and Buick, LIB (Ladies in Buicks) for all their dealers. Women's response to these programs has been staggering.

AMERICAN MOTORS called in such prominent fashion designers as Gucci and Cassini to dress up certain of their cars in high style. Certainly it was an appeal to get women behind the wheels of its products.

Along with this new-found knowledge that women were important to them as customers, the industry realized they needed women in the business.

Now women are being sought to work in dealerships as sales people and in service areas to talk with women customers.

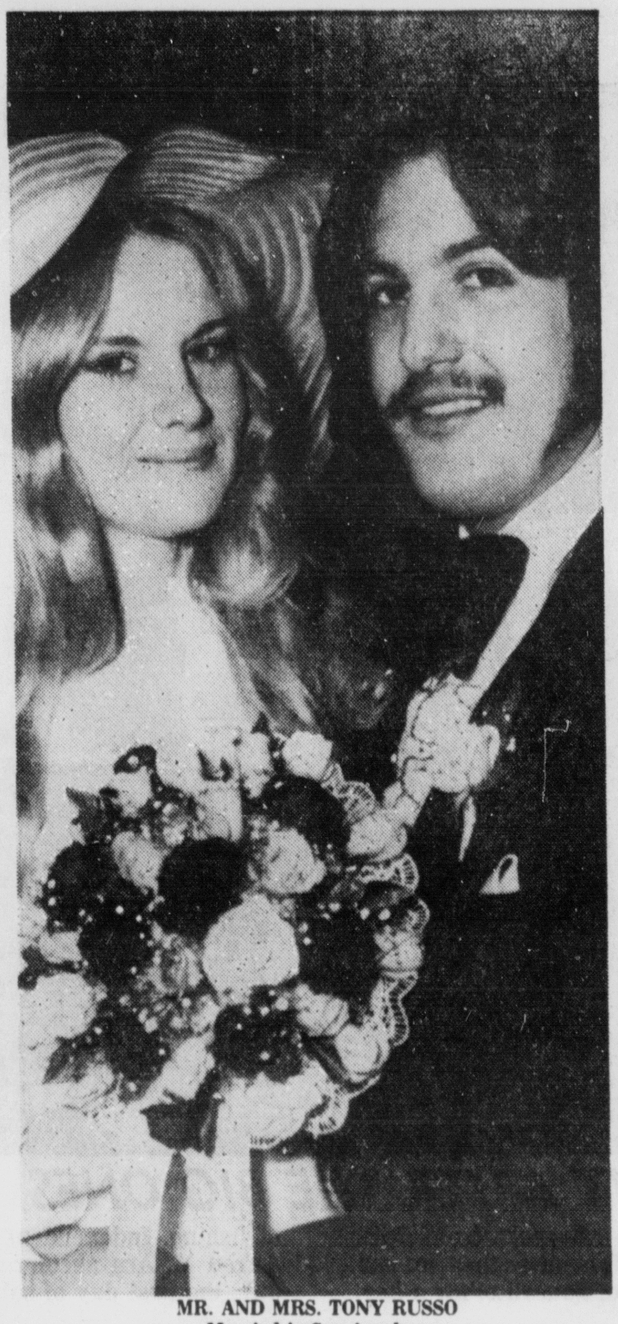

The industry has found women to be exceptional in customer- relations work. They proved to be more patient and understanding in dealing with complaints than men.

Women designers now are asked to do more than help with the trim as they had been doing, in limited numbers, in the past. Women put the nix on door handles that broke fingernails and uncomfortable car seats.

Someday soon women will have convinced car advertisers that their money will be better spent on sponsoring women's programs than Sunday afternoon sports events.

After all, it's mama who holds the family purse strings.

THE BITE — A hefty salmon takes the bait and is hooked by a fisherman aboard the Sunrise. Tak Kuwatani, the boat's skipper, said people from all over the world come to Sausalito for the salmon season. One enthusiastic group jets out from New York every year, he reported.

PREPARING TO HEAD OUT AFTER THE BIG ONES

For the next several months, boats full of avid salmon fishermen will become familiar sights along Marin's waterfronts. Here, in the predawn hours, several attorneys from Bakersfield check their equipment as they set out aboard the Sunrise (out of Sausalito) for a day of fishing. Independent-Journal photographer Alfred M. Arn accompanied the party Saturday, the first day of salmon season.

UNDERWAY — Kuwatani, the skipper, (left) keeps his eyes peeled for signs of salmon as the boat heads out to sea. Great flocks of gulls may indicate the fish are nearby since the birds and the salmon both prey on the same kinds of small fish. At right, a disgruntled fisherman returns to the water "a shaker," a fish too small to keep.

TIME OUT — Fishing is a strenuous business and the time comes, usually quite soon, when crew and fishermen alike start feeling kind of empty. Deckhand Kim (left) takes a quick coffee break. Michael Young of Bakersfield (right) has a more leisurely sandwich and beer.

FROM THE DEEP — Fishermen watch as Kim hoses and gives a preliminary cleaning to a salmon as the boat heads back to Sausalito. It was a successful day, with 31 salmon and a rock cod hooked by members of the fishing party.

Film Role? Reagan In Retirement

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said yesterday he will not accept a role in a new Richard Burton-Lee Marvin movie "or any other picture."

The governor, who gave up Hollywood for politics, said he had read and heard of a publicist's offer to play the part of a news reporter in the film "The Klansman," but "no one asked me."

At a news conference, Reagan surveyed reporters and cracked, "I think that all of you have cooperated in giving a very bright young public relations man the attention that he wanted."

"No, I haven't been asked, and no, I'm not going to play in that or any other picture," he said.

The film's publicist, Glenn Shahan, said during the weekend that Reagan had been offered the part in the movie, which is being shot in Oroville.

Undergrounding Work Is Planned

Work is to start "early this year" on undergrounding utilities in the East Grant Avenue area of Novato, according to Gordon Lee, Novato division manager, Western California Telephone Co.

A project along seven blocks of Grant Avenue, west of Highway 101, involving the telephone company, Pacific Gas and Election Co. and the Novato Fire Department, was complete in December.

That project included undergrounding electric and telephone facilities and installing new street lights and wireless fire alarm equipment, Lee reported. Western California Telephone Co. spent $82,000 on the project, he said.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"Chariots of the Gods" — Beautifully photographic exploration of Von Daniken's theory — that extra terrestrial beings have visited earth. Documentary.

"Run Wild, Run Free" — A fine melodrama about an ill 10-year-old boy and the curative powers of nature and love. Can be quite emotional for very young children.

"Son of Flubber" — This 1963 sequel to "Absent Minded Professor" is reissued. In striving to perfect a rain-making device a professor produces a crop of mammoth vegetables.

"Superdad" — A generation gap comedy about a father who disapproves of daughter's boyfriend because he isn't ambitious enough. His interference makes her take up with a kooky artist. Filming done in Sausalito and San Francisco.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"American Graffiti" — Well-made film captures look of life in 1950s as four high school grads cruise through the night. Cursing and some suggestive sex scenes.

"Hot Rock" — Hilarious experiences of four accident-prone thieves who steal a fabulous diamond from a museum. Crime pays in this one.

"Paper Moon" — Sophisticated drama recreating the 1930s. A conman and a 9-year-old orphan girl in depression era Kansas. The child is tough, smokes and uses profanity. Violence.

"Sleeper" — This sophisticated comedy combines science-fiction with satire and slapstick. Our hero is frozen after an operation fails in 1973 and is defrosted in 2173. A computerized world provides hilarious opportunities for Woody Allen. Many sexual references.

"Slither" — Off-beat comedy of four people wending their way through California in search of hidden loot. Mood shifts from Hitchcock to Mack Sennett. Profanity.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Busting" — A cops and robbers movie that tries to be facetious and serious at the same time. Two policeman who work as a team in L.A. try to put across the message concerning the ironies in the lot of the honest man afloat in a sea of corruption. (Product Digest)

"Fantastic Planet" — Full length, animated cartoon science-fiction set in distant future and related in surrealistic terms. Eerie electronic soundtrack, dubbed French subtitles. Story of reversal, humans as miniscule vermin in a world of giants. Brutality-nudity. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"Getaway" — Tense action story. Two attractive stars make two vicious people seem like "just folks" and prove that crime does pay. Violence, sex, cursing.

"Love and Pain and the Whole Damn Thing" — Unlikely romance between an aging, ailing English spinster and a mixed-up frustrated boy 30 years her junior. Part drama, comedy and soap-opera set in Spain.

"M.A.S.H." — Hilarious and very subtle anti-war film takes place during Korean conflict. Adult satire of life style developed by three army surgeons in order to survive the gore and horror that passes before their eyes.

"Save The Tiger" — Financial crisis of wealthy manufacturer causes him to commit a serious felony to save his business. Good acting and direction, also sex, nudity and cursing.

"Serpico" — Engrossing true story about an honest yet rebellious cop in New York who fought a one-man war against corruption in the police force. Vulgar language is constant, considerable violence, sex and nudity.

"The Sting" — Film sounds like a manual for con-men in this cold and calculating account of a 1930s plan to ruin a powerful Chicago mobster. Violence and cursing.

"Touch of Class" — Sophisticated French bedroom farce. An expose of the difficulties inherent in an extra-marital affair. Frank sexual scenes and language.

"The Way We Were" — A humorous love story that starts in the 1930s and ends in the 1950s. An idealistic politically radical young woman and a well-to-do apolitical young man make an odd couple.

ADULTS ONLY

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Windjammer Offers Good Food, Superb Wine And A Great View

Marin County is bounded on three of its four sides by deep water — but 88 per cent of all its waterside restaurants are either in Sausalito or Tiburon.

The chances of this figure ever being changed materially are remote. There are the two Marin water-oriented communities close enough to the population centers to draw big slices of restaurant trade from them.

Thrice blessed is the restaurant in this category. It has view, it has view — and still more view. Diners-out eat it up lavishly with their soup, salad, entree and dessert. In an age becoming noted for high food prices, it helps a lot.

The Windjammer on Tiburon's Main Street is one of the chosen few. From its waterside windows you can see enough of the San Francisco skyline, the bay and its boats and the local dock scene to make a dinner table conversation seem redundant.

Naturally, not all Windjammer tables are situated to accent this inspiring vista. Someone has to sit in the back of the room. But that doesn't seem to make a great deal of difference to the occupants, who may have felt the spell of it when they first walked in, or sat at the bar or some advantageous spot in the lounge. What they enjoyed there seems to last through the entire meal.

With its offerings of rex or petrali sole, scallops, crab Mornay or cracked crab or salmon in season, bouillabaise, louies and seafood appetizers, the Windjammer menu adapts well to the scene.

Chances are you'll be tempted to order one of these dishes, though due concessions are made to those who prefer a steak, steak sandwich, beef brochettes or maybe beef stroganoff.

View, good food and good wine are a choice combination anywhere. This time of the year the restaurant is closed Mondays and Tuesdays. But it's open for dinners and lunches or brunches the rest of the week. I'd make reservations ahead. Who knows? You might just get to sit at one of those window-side tables.

I should mention, too, that there's a separate room for banquets, a good-sized one, if you want to hold a party.

If the Windjammer operation seems particularly smooth to you right now, give a few thanks to new manager Joe Reitan, who has helped in making it so. He's had about 25 years experience in learning how to eliminate friction spots in restaurants.

SINCE WRITING about Sabella's new musical and dance program last week there has already been a change made, stepping up the action for other days in the week.

The Duxbury Trio has added Wednesday and Thursday nights to its appearances in the Ebb Tide Room. Lou Sabella agreed to it. The group will now play during the cocktail period from 5 to 7 p.m. Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays, take a break and return for dance music from 9 p.m. Saturday nights there's no cocktail period performance. Everything starts from 9 p.m.

IT MAY BE WORTHWHILE waiting in line for a few extra gallons of gas after March 1. That's when a number of Sonoma County restaurants break away from their winter closing and open their 1974 season.

Golden Bear Lodge in Kenwood with its famous smorgasbord table is one. Mark West Lodge in Santa Rosa with its French cuisine is another — and I understand some remodeling has been done. In the Russian River area is Angelo's at Monte Rio with its Italian dinners and Cazanoma Lodge in Cazadero with its German rouladen and kasseler rippchen.

ALSO A FEW MORE WORDS on the new L'Auberge in Petaluma:

I now have its menu and have dined there and can recommend it.

As mentioned a couple of weeks ago, a few days after its opening, it is located at 122 Washington Street, where Little Germany used to be. New owners Gabriel Elicetche (who is Basque) and his wife Suzanne (who is French-American) are already picking up customers from both Petaluma and Marin County.

It's a small place but very neat and the dining room, separated from the wine bar, is nicely decorated. I seem to remember that almost 12 years ago another small Basque restaurant started in Santa Venetia is much the same way, and look at it now — Le Chalet Basque at 405 North San Pedro Road. May the Elicetches someday match the success of Raymond and Eugenie Coscarat.

The Elicetches did start off by serving both lunches and dinners, but have discontinued lunches altogether. Sorry about that — I know some Marinites made the trip up there and found the place closed. But the owners decided to give all their attention to dinners, which are offered Tuesdays through Sundays from 5 to 10 p.m.

The menu offers a choice of seven entrees on a complete dinner, which includes soup, salad, vegetable garnish, coffee and dessert. There usually is also a $4.50 special du jour.

Dishes (in their English subtitles) include veal with a cream sauce, steak with wine sauce, French lamb chops, sweetbreads, chicken with a hunter's sauce, chicken livers saute and filet of sole with lemon sauce. The dinners are priced from $3.95 to $6.75. There are only three a la carte adds — escargots, prosciutto and an onion soup.

Wines and beers are served and there is a good house wine.

The restaurant, though on one of the main thoroughfares, is in one of the older parts of downtown Petaluma and there are many nearby buildings in which local history must have been written — or at least enjoyed. Next door, for example, the Volpi Grocery has in the rear of all its counters what Walter Jeltsch (former Little Germany owner) tells me is the oldest bar in Petaluma. It's small but still in operation and very well patronized.

DON'T DRINK wine with a salad? Who said so?

It's true that salad with an oil and vinegar dressing tends to clash with wine, at least for most people. But it's different if that salad has a creamy Roquefort, blue cheese, Thousand Island or sour cream dressing.

Crab Louis with French bread and white wine is a year-round West Coast favorite. The fact is, where wine is very much a part of the meal, salad generally is, too.

And here's a dressing suggested that definitely goes with wine, and you can try it at home: Half oil and one-fourth each red and white table wine, with a dash of vermouth for extra flavor.

Trapping Still Best

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI) — Trapping is still the best way to eliminate mice and rats as they move into houses during the cold winter months, according to the Middlesex County Extension Service.

BY WAY OF CUBA

Miami Offers Chinese Food

MIAMI (UPI) —Miami has no Chinatown, but it does have many Chinese, including Cuban refugees of Chinese descent. And that's the key to a diner's delight: The Cuban-Chinese restaurant.

Amidst the bodegas (groceries) and dulcerias (sweets and pastry shops) flash the signs: Peking! Oriental! Saigon! Honolulu! and Canton!

These are among a score of restaurants featuring Mandarin and Cantonese dishes, Cuban specialities, and American food —plus combinations of all three, at thrift prices.

If you're an adventurer, this is the place. If you've a hankering for roast duck, fried bananas and a Coke, this is paradise.

A family of four can easily have a complete lunch, from soup to desert for $8, and most restaurants have luncheon specials starting at about $1.35.

No matter what your selection, side orders of vegetables, plantains, and Cuban bread and crackers are usually included, and often a fresh mixed salad is tossed in.

Cuban-Chinese restaurants have raised their prices little in the past two years. The average increases have been about 25-cents a dish, and that's considerably less than in other Miami eateries.

Part of the low cost may be the plain cuts of meat and fish used in some dishes, and the number of relatives on the small payrolls.

"We try to keep the business the same from year to year, with prices people can afford and keep pace with the trends set by the larger and older restaurants like the Pekin," the manager of a smaller restaurant said.

One chef, Juan Low, said, "We have good food. We think we keep people happy at reasonable prices, but we don't like to talk about it."

Menus include "Fried Butterflies," which is the literal translation of "maripositas frita," which are fried wontons. The golden crisp meat-filled wontons are served either as appetizers, side dishes, or sometimes instead of potatoes or rice with a meal.

Each restaurant has a house special, usually a special fried rice where shrimp, langostinos, pork, eggs, and vegetables are blended into a heaping platter topped with peas, carrots, pimentos and green peppers—a meal in itself.

And then there are those countless combinations: t-bone steak, fried yellow or green plantains with some wonton soup or an egg roll. Or perhaps you'd prefer shrimp in lobster sauce, french fries, and ice tea? Anything's possible.

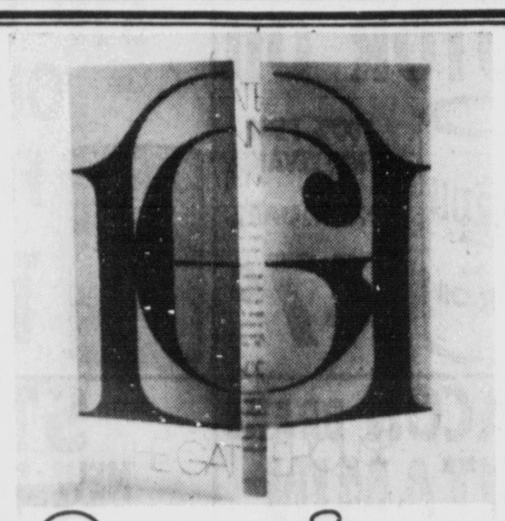

For desserts, there are American dishes plus the Cuban treat "tocino del cielo" (bacon of heaven). There's no bacon at all, but instead a heavenly orange-colored caramel custard in a thick molasses sauce.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

NAME CHANGE

This map, issued by the San Rafael Department of Public Works portions of Jacoby Street in East San Rafael that have been renamed by the city as Andersen Drive in memory of the late city manager, Dan E. Andersen, and as West Francisco Boulevard. New road signs will be posted next week, according to Lloyd S. Strom, assistant civil engineer.

'Shoestring Lot' Plan Is Dropped

A controversial plan to divide a large West Marin ranch into 20 "shoestring lots" —averaging less than 300 feet in width and more than a mile in length — was dropped last night just before a scheduled vote on it by the North Central Coast Regional Commission.

A strong staff recommendation that the permit application by Lawrence J. Walters of Inverness be denied apparently accounted for its withdrawal.

The 1,252-acre ranch overlooks Bodega Bay. Its 20 owner-investors call themselves Compadres de San Antonio. Their plan would have skirted the county's A-60 zoning and environmental impact study requirements because the county has no planning jurisdiction over lots larger than 60 acres.

As a result of the subdivision, county supervisors are seeking state legislation to extend their jurisdiction to lots up to 200 acres.

The coastal commission's staff said a line of homes on the lots would be "visually prominent" and be contrary to the objectives of the law that created the commission. The staff also objected the application did not provide public access to the beach.

In other business, commissioners meeting at Petaluma City Hall elected Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon as chairman for the next year, succeeding Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum. She served as vice chairman for the past year, and was unopposed.

Dr. Bradford W. Lundborg of Santa Rosa was elected vice chairman, defeating Kenneth M. Stocking, also of Santa Rosa, and Fairfax City Councilman Frank J. Egger. San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn was reappointed as the commission's representative on the state coastal commission.

$1.5 Million ABAG Budget Is Approved; Carries Hike In Dues

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A $1,577,000 budget for next fiscal year was approved yesterday by the general assembly of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

A threatened impasse over members' dues was broken after county representatives dropped their opposition to shouldering an average 65 per cent increase in dues. City representatives, arguing they could not afford increased dues on the usual formula of splitting evenly with the counties, voted to pick up only a 25 per cent increase.

The amount involved was only $53,550, but at stake was the principle of how to divide the association's financial burden in future years. It took more than an hour of debate among delegates at the semiannual session at the Regency Hyatt House, and a half dozen ballots before the counties caved in.

San Jose Vice Mayor Janet Gray Hayes summed up the plight of the cities, declaring "we are hanging on by our fiscal fingernails." The state's limit on local property taxes and inflation confront local governments with an ever tighter bind on their finances, she said.

Mill Valley Mayor Jean S. Barnard added objections that the dues schedule means city dwellers will pay 11 cents per person to ABAG, because they also finance county government, while residents of unincorporated areaswill pay less than six cents.

The budget was increased to offset a 25 per cent cut in planning funds from the federal government.

Only two cities opposed the allocation of the increase and Alameda County was the sole county holdout. Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort cautioned that if counties pay more than cities, the counties could end up controlling the association.

The new dues, with current fiscal year figures in parentheses are Marin County, $12,234 ($7,504); Belvedere, $244 ($222); Corte Madera, $534 ($458); Larkspur, $713 ($545); Mill Valley, $755 ($639); Novato, $1,811 ($1,408); Ross, $251 ($227); San Anselmo, $750 ($635); San Rafael, $2,260 ($1,671); Sausalito, $416 ($361), and Tiburon, $417 ($363).

Fairfax will pay $487. It rejoined in mid-1973.

In Southern Sonoma, the figures are Cotati, $234 ($185); Petaluma, $1,559 ($1,275); and Rohnert Park, $536 ($412). The County of Sonoma is not a member.

Preliminary General Plan To Be Studied

The San Rafael Planning Commission will consider the city's preliminary general plan when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

Scheduled for public discussion is the second chapter of the controversial document, entitled "The Natural Environment."

Regular commission business, including a request by a state Assembly candidate for a temporary campaign headquarters in an abandoned gas station on Lincoln Avenue, will be considered by the commission when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in city hall.

Hamilton Air Base Gets Three Army Detachments

Three Army air detachments from Crissy Field, 77 men and 16 aircraft, have moved to Hamilton Air Force Base.

The first Army units to move onto the base since it was switched from active to reserve status last year could be the forerunner of future Army use at Hamilton.

That possibility was foreshadowed earlier this year when the head of a key House subcommittee in Washington declared it unlikely the military would hold to a previously announced intention to let go of 320 acres at the base.

Air detachments from five Army Reserve units, nine full-time people and six aircraft, also have arrived at the base in the past two weeks.

Compared to the days when Hamilton flourished with fighter interceptor squadrons and thousands of Air Force regulars, the new arrivals represent but a trickle of activity.

The Sixth Army, a contingent of 11 men, two planes and two helicopters: largest of the groups.

The Army Air Command's 13th Artillery, which is assigned to the soon-to-be abandoned Nike Missile sites in the Bay Area, 14 men and 2 helicopters.

Army Readiness Region Nine, a group of Army regulars who specialize in training reservists in California, Arizona, Washington, Nevada and Oregon, 11 men two planes and two helicopters.

The five reserve air detachments, which will provide training for 52 reservists weekends and summers, are from a military police battalion, troop garrison, engineer battalion, training division and maintenance company from throughout California and Washington.

A Sixth Army spokesman said the arrival of the "Air elements" of various units doesn't mean the units themselves are going to move to the base.

Asked whether Army units at Forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite would be moved to Hamilton as rumored, the spokesman said, "We just don't know."

Civic Center Is Evacuated

A male caller who told an operator, "there's going to be a big noise at the Civic Center in 10 minutes," yesterday forced evacuation of the building for one hour.

Sheriff's deputies who searched the building found no bomb, and employees returned to their desks about 4:15 p.m.

It was the first bomb scare to force an evacuation of the Civic Center since March, 1971, the sheriff's department said.

Capt. Harvey Teague said the man phoned the main switchboard at 3:07 p.m., delivered the message and hung up immediately.

An emergency telephone system was activated, which rings 123 telephones simultaneously and gives a recorded evacuation message, and then alarm bells were sounded.

Dissolution Of Area Sewer Agency Asked

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma supervisors have begun a lobbying effort which they hope will result in the dissolution of the Bay Area Sewer Services Agency (BASSA).

"We'll see if we can get some support from other north bay counties," said James P. Botz, attorney for the supervisors.

He said a resolution asking the state legislature to repeal the law which created BASSA, approved by the supervisors Tuesday, is similar to one passed recently in Napa County.

The Sonoma supervisors yielded Tuesday to a letter from the agency threatening a lawsuit unless the county paid the first half of its $31,000 dues for 1974. The supervisors paid the first $15,000 installment under protest.

At the heart of the controversy is the belief held by supervisors that Sonoma County should pay much less to BASSA than other Bay Area counties because most of its sewage does not flow into San Francisco Bay, thus affecting other counties only slightly.

Botz said the county's position is that BASSA's function should be taken over by the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board, since the duties of both regional agencies already overlap.

Although Botz hesitated to predict whether the legislature will consider abolishing BASSA, he said he feels the movement would have a greater chance of success if other counties will join it.

Teacher's Dismissal Discussed

The Petaluma Board of Education met in closed session yesterday to begin dismissal proceedings against a Rancho Cotate High School teacher who was convicted Feb. 11 of homosexual soliciting.

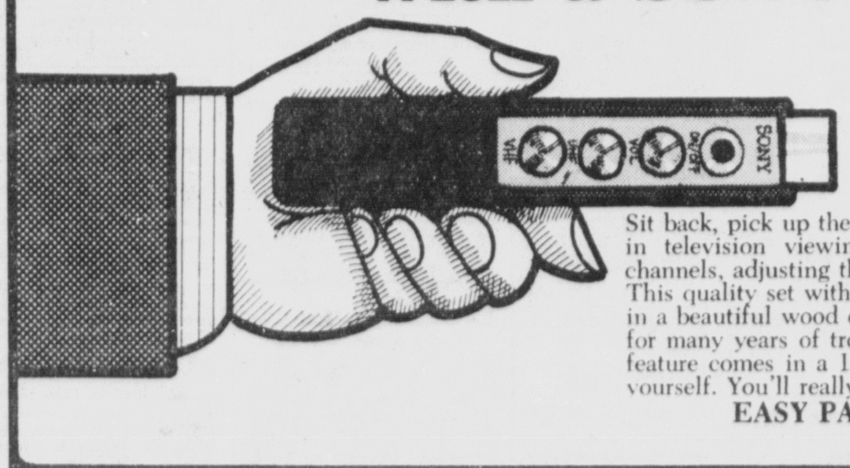

Supt. of Schools Lesly H. Meyer said the board approved a resolution announcing its intention to dismiss Richard James Tuck Jr., 26, who has been on compulsory leave since his arrest in Petaluma last March 22.

Meyer said Tuck may request a hearing before the school board during the next 30 days to contest his dismissal. If he does not contest the action, the superintendent said, the dismissal will become final at the end of the 30-day period.

Tuck taught English and journalism in the Petaluma school system for two and a half years prior to his arrest, Meyer said.

When convicted of the misdemeanor in Petaluma Municipal Court, Tuck said he would appeal the matter to superior court.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS CONSTRUCTION OF TENNIS COURTS IN PIONEER MEMORIAL PARK PROJECT NO. 74-001 CITY OF NOVATO MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Finance Director, City of Novato, California, until 4:00 p.m. on March 13, 1974, for the furnishing of all plant, labor, materials, tools, equipment and machinery necessary for the construction of TENNIS COURTS IN PIONEER MEMORIAL PARK, PROJECT NO. 74-001.

The proposals will be publicly opened and read in the office of the Finance Director on the date and at the time mentioned above. Plans and specifications (but not including City Standard Specifications or other documents included by reference), and proposal forms, may be obtained at the office of the City Engineer upon payment of a printing and service charge in the amount of Four Dollars ($4.00) which amount shall not be refunded. All checks shall be made payable to the City of Novato, and should be mailed to the City of Novato, P.O. Box 578, Novato, California, 94947.

The work to be done includes, but is not necessarily limited to: clearing and grubbing, grading, drainage facilities, aggregate base, asphalt concrete surfacing, chain link fence, lighting system and all appurtenances necessary for the successful completion of the project as shown on the plans and specifications.

The City of Novato hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that in any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, minority business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, color, or national origin in consideration for an award.

Minimum wage rates for this project as predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and in accordance with the Davis-Bacon Act are set forth in these special provisions. If there is a difference between the minimum wage rates predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and the prevailing wage rates determined by the Department of Public Works, Division of Highways, or by the City of Novato, set forth in these special provisions for similar classifications of labor, the Contractor and his subcontractors shall pay not less than the higher wage rate.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive any informality in a bid, and to make award as the interests of the City may require. This notice is given by order of the Council of the City of Novato, California.

No bid will be received unless it is made on proposal form furnished by the City Engineer. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the bid as a guarantee that the bidder, if the award is made to him in accordance with the terms of his proposal, will promptly execute a contract in the required form, secure payment of workmen's compensation insurance, and furnish a satisfactory faithful performance bond and a labor and material bond. Each of said bonds shall be in the sum of not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the payments to be made under the contract, computed on the basis of the price stated in the proposal. In addition to the above, and if requested by the City, the bidder shall furnish a financial statement of recent date. Failure to comply with this requirement will render a bid informal and shall be sufficient cause for rejection.

The contractor shall complete the construction of the total project within forty-five (45) working days, the first day of which shall be the date of the City Engineer's Notice to Proceed.

Finance Director for the City of Novato, California

The people of the State of California send greetings to the above-named defendants:

NOTICE TO THE PERSON SERVED

( ) You are served as an individual defendant.
( ) You are served as (or on behalf of) the person sued under the fictitious name of: _____
( ) You are served on behalf of: _____

YOU ARE HEREBY DIRECTED to appear and answer the complaint in an action entitled as above, brought against you in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Marin, within thirty days after service on you of this summons. Otherwise your default will be entered on application by the plaintiff and the court may enter a judgment against you for the relief requested in the complaint.

IF YOU WISH TO SEEK THE ADVICE OF AN ATTORNEY IN THIS MATTER, YOU SHOULD DO SO PROMPTLY SO THAT YOUR PLEADING, IF ANY, MAY BE FILED ON TIME.

The purpose of this action is to condemn and take by right of eminent domain the respective property interests, if any, of the named defendants in the right to enforce or have enforced certain covenants running with the land, which are recorded as Document No. 15110 in 2462 O.R. 160 Marin County Records, a copy of which said covenants is attached hereto as Exhibit A and by this reference made a part hereof, insofar as said covenants prevent plaintiff from constructing, operating and maintaining a satellite earth station, and from engaging in all conduct incident thereto, on those certain parcels of real property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, which plaintiff has purchased or obtained and elected to exercise an option to purchase, a description of which real property is attached hereto as Exhibit B and by this reference made a part hereof; and insofar as said covenants prevent plaintiff from using a presently existing nonexclusive access easement to serve as a right-of-way to and from the real property described in Exhibit B hereto; said access easement is recorded in that certain Record of Survey entitled "Record of Survey Portion of Soula Jule Ranch" filed October 14, 1971 in Book 10 of Surveys, at page 66, Marin County Records. A legal description of said access easement is attached hereto as Exhibit C and by this reference made a part hereof.

Plaintiff is informed and believes that certain of the defendants in the above-referred to action claim that said access easement is not appurtenant to and for the benefit of the real property described in Exhibit B hereto if said real property is used for the construction, operation and maintenance of a satellite earth station, and any conduct incidental thereto. Therefore, should the Court find valid such claims, if any, the purpose of this action also is to condemn and take by right of eminent domain said access easement.

Plaintiff desires to condemn defendants' said respective property interests, if any, in order to construct, operate and maintain said satellite earth station, and to engage in all conduct incident thereto, as described in plaintiff's complaint, for use in connection with plaintiff's communications business.

You are hereby notified to appear and show cause why said property interests, if any, should not be condemned as prayed for in the complaint on file therein.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Marin, this 26th day of November, 1973.

Leary Cult Status Is Challenged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Mike D. Antonovich, R-Los Angeles, yesterday called for the state Franchise Tax Board to revoke the tax-exempt status of drug-cultist Timothy Leary's religious group the "Brotherhood of Eternal Love."

The organization was granted a tax-exempt status in 1966 and has been a top drug supplier in the United States, said Antonovich.

"Recent testimony before a United States Senate subcommittee revealed that at least 750 members of the Brotherhood have been identified as participants in criminal activities around the globe," Antonovich said.

"More than 100 persons connected with the group have been arrested on serious charges," he said.

Antonovich said he has been told by a state drug enforcement administrator that out of the 12 top organizers of the brotherhood, six continue to be fugitives from justice.

Canadian's Political Bid At End

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — A Canadian, who once said he was a candidate for governor of California, has been released from the Kern County Jail and deported to his homeland, Dist. Att. Albert Leddy said yesterday.

Robert Franklin Young, 31, had been in jail since Jan. 31 awaiting trial Feb. 25 on an assault and battery charge in lieu of $4,500 bail.

Leddy said the U.S. Immigration Office deported Young as an undesirable alien and planned to release him to the custody of his mother in Vancouver, B.C.

His mother posted a reduced bail of $2,000 and the trial was continued without date by Municipal Court Judge William Stone.

Leddy said Young came to Bakersfield from Canada last fall and set up residence in the Bakersfield Inn where he passed out campaign literature saying he was running for governor.

He said Young subsequently got into several minor scrapes with the law and also moved out of the Bakersfield Inn after a dispute with the management.

He allegedly returned to the inn Dec. 27 and got into a fight with a security guard resulting in the battery charge.

Reagan For Lifting Of Fuel Curbs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan pleaded yesterday with Californians to curb "panic buying" of gasoline and said he thinks federal fuel controls should be lifted.

The Republican chief executive said, "It's ridiculous ... there's absolutely no need for this panic buying."

He said panic buying has created uncalled for long lines at service stations and has drained away fuel supplies.

It was triggered, Reagan said, by motorists fearing gasoline rationing would be imposed.

"Rationing has never been considered by us," he said. "Gossip and talk of it rationing is what started panic buying."

The state's contingency plan, which the governor has approved, for dealing with the crisis would be a voluntary system of buying gasoline on even-odd days according to vehicles' license numbers.

As for federal controls, Reagan said, "I wish they would leave this to the marketplace. It would seek and find its own level."

Asked about some station owners' threats to close unless their profit margin were hiked, Reagan said, "This is a time for patience and common sense."

He said Californians can get by with 20 per cent less gasoline without rationing.

"With a little care it isn't too difficult to cut out one mile out of five" of unnecessary driving, Reagan said.

Arrested Man Is Recovering

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Daniel Raymond Springer, 23, arrested in Petaluma last month, was recovering today at community hospital here from a Feb. 11 suicide attempt at the Sonoma County Jail.

A sheriff's department spokesman said Springer has been removed from the critical list and is no longer under intensive care. The prisoner regained consciousness several days ago. He had been in a coma since trying to hang himself at the jail, where he was being held after he allegedly threatened a Petaluma construction worker with a knife Jan. 23.

Springer, of no known address, was first booked as John Doe because he refused to give his name. Later he told authorities he was Steven R. Johnson. Sheriff's officers finally determined his identity through fingerprints.

He is charged with assault and possession of an illegal weapon.

'Sonny And Cher' Show Clouded By Separation

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — Today is Miscellany Day.

First up: The question of whether CBS' top-rated "Sonny and Cher Comedy Hour" will survive the marital split of its two stars this week.

Sonny Bono, 37, said through a spokesman he's seeking a legal separation from Cher, 27, the singing partner he married in October 1964. He cited irreconcilable differences as the reason.

According to CBS-TV's programming chief, Fred Silverman, the couple only has one more show to tape for the current season. But he said he didn't know yet if it'll be back next fall.

He added that a decision will have to be made by the end of March because "we're going to set our programming schedule" for the 1974-75 season in the week beginning March 18.

"The Sonny and Cher" show, now in its third season, first aired in August 1971 as a summer replacement series on CBS-TV.

Paul Duke, an NBC News correspondent in Washington for 10 years before taking the plunge into public TV three weeks ago, says the transition is going well, generally speaking.

The biggest problem "is getting used to doing things at a different pace and on a longer-range basis," said Duke, 47, now a correspondent for the National Public Affairs Center for Television.

"By that, I mean I've been an old-fashioned journalist who's been used to the daily deadline all his life," said Duke, one of the few top broadcast newsmen with both a wire service and newspaper background.

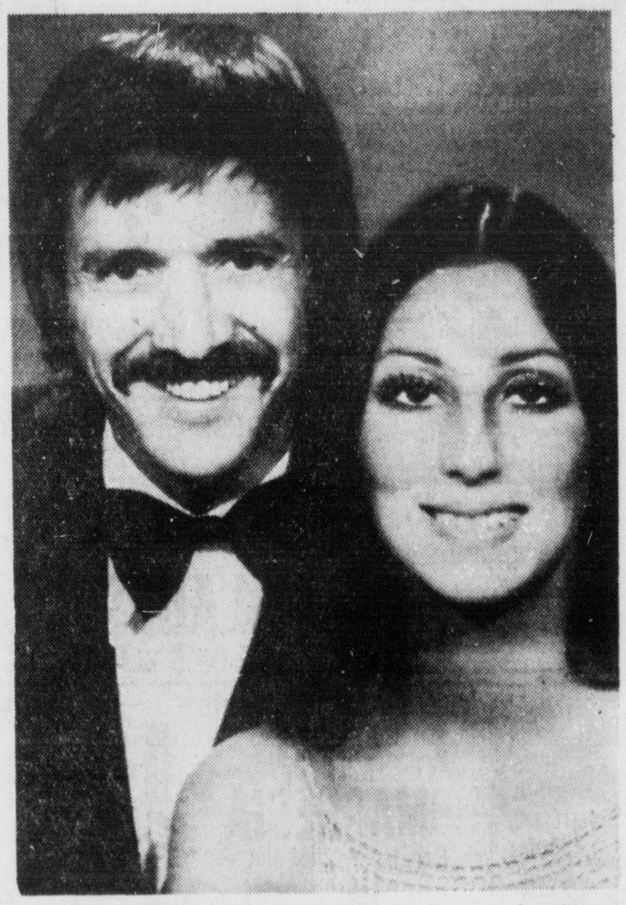

His current deadlines are for three weekly half-hour NPACT shows — "Washington Week in Review," "Washington Straight Talk" and "Washington Connection."

An attempt to explain and elaborate on the phenomenon of the 16-year-old Maharaj Ji — he's known in some circles as "The Perfect Master" — is coming up Sunday on public TV.

The show, called "Lord of the Universe," centers on the three-day happening the guru held last November at the Houston Astrodome. It's videotape verite from San Francisco's Top Value Television crew.

Alas, it's not their best effort, although I must admit I saw the show after reading a National Lampoon essay on the rigors of guru life, written by a purported holy man named Baba Rum Raisin.

Baba Rum said it all and Sunday's show seems only a footnote.

BACK AGAIN? — The announced marital separation this week of television's Sonny and Cher casts doubt on the status of their top-rated comedy hour show on CBS-Television next season. The network will begin programming its 1974-75 season starting March 18 and a decision must be made by then.

Association Upset Over Shortcutters

Drivers from the Scott Valley area of Mill Valley are using the abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks in their neighborhood as a shortcut down their hill and are beginning to bother homeowners in the Alto area, according to the Alto-Sutton Manor District Association.

Sara S. Ruffner, association publicity chairman, said that the group decided Wednesday night to contact the Cal-Fong Development which owns part of the land involved, about the problem. The association already has written to Southern Pacific Railroad and has received that firm's promise to work on keeping the shortcutters off of its land.

Marriage Dissolved

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Linda Lovelace, 23, star of the sex movie "Deep Throat," yesterday was granted an uncontested dissolution of marriage from Charles Traynor, 36, her former manager, after three years of marriage, on grounds of incompatibility.

Preacher To Fight Ban On Broadcasts

COLLINGSWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — An associate of Rev. Carl McIntire, whose offshore radio station has been barred from broadcasting, said yesterday that the flamboyant preacher would appeal the federal court order.

"I'm sure he's going to appeal it," said Harold Dennis, a long-time associate and spokesman for McIntire, who was in Florida for a convention. "They're going to carry it all the way through."

Defense Spending Warning Is Given

DALLAS (UPI) — The United States can cut defense spending and reduce its military power only in step with the Soviet Union, Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements Jr. said yesterday.

"We hope that negotiations will ease our burden of armaments in the future, but we can only decrease our military forces in step with the Soviets," Clements said.

Clements, speaking at a hometown Council on World Affairs, said there was no acceptable alternative to stationing U. S. troops in Western Europe or building its nuclear arsenal. —

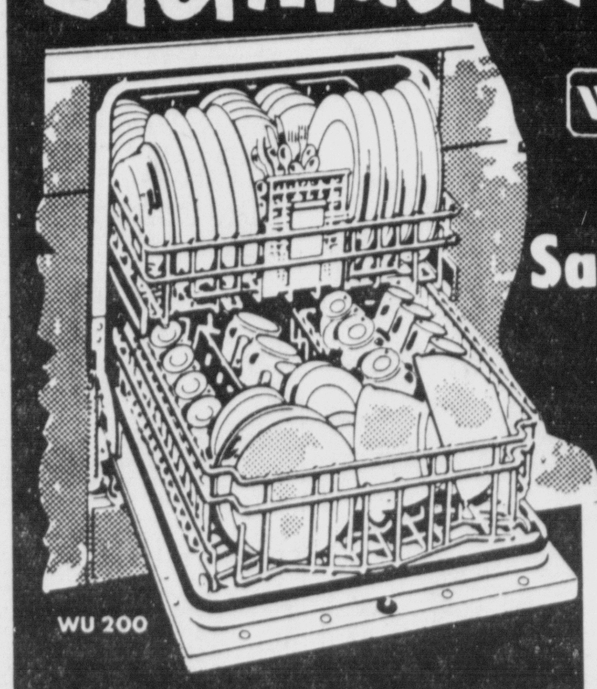

Barge Capsizes With 300 Aboard

SEOUL (UPI) — A South Korean navy barge carrying more than 300 trainees capsized in rough seas today off Chungmu, 205 miles southeast of Seoul, military officials said.

Officials said at least two persons died but 154 others were rescued. The remaining 160 were listed as missing. Officials said they feared few of the missing would be found alive.

IN ARBITRATION WITH OWNERS

Baseball Players Are Batting .600

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first statistics of the baseball season show that major league players are batting .600 in the arbitration league.

An Associated Press survey disclosed today that at least 29 players have taken their salary pitches to arbitration with six cases known to have been decided in favor of the player and four in favor of the club.

Winners were third baseman Sal Bando $100,000, and pitchers Ken Holtzman, $93,000, Rollie Fingers about $65,000 and Darold Knowles around $60,000.

Losers — and not too happy about it — were catcher-first baseman Gene Tenace and infielder Ted Kubiak, who got raises anyway, and minor league infielder Jack Heidemann, who took a $5,000 cut.

"He (Finley) is going to have to find himself another catcher because I refuse to catch any more," groused Tenace, the 1972 World Series hero who earned about $33,000 last season, was offered $45,000 and asked for $52,500.

"I'm going to play only one position and that's first base. If he doesn't appreciate what I do for this club by properly compensating me, then I'll play first base and just stay there. I caught as a favor to him and saved him some money because he didn't have to call up another catcher. Now he'll have to."

Decisions still are pending in the cases of Oakland outfielders Reggie Jackson, the American League's most valuable player in 1973, and Joe Rudi. They reportedly are asking $135,000 and $67,500, respectively, while Finley is said to have offered $100,000 and $55,000.

Other known winners are pitcher Dick Woodson of the Minnesota Twins and outfielder Norm Miller of the Atlanta Braves. Atlanta first baseman Frank Tepedino came out a loser.

Woodson was the first announced winner. A team spokesman said the pitcher and the Twins were about $3,000 apart in the mid-$20,000 salary range. Woodson compiled a 10-8 record and 3.95 earned run average last season.

The survey showed that at least 22 American Leaguers and seven National Leaguers have availed themselves of the new arbitration proceeding, which was part of the agreement between players and management last year.

G. Johnson Unlikely Hero For Warriors

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors have an unlikely new hero today.

George Johnson, who was playing in an industrial league in California two years ago, destroyed the Cavs last night by scoring a career-high 23 points and grabbing 26 rebounds in leading the Golden State Warriors to a 122-103 win.

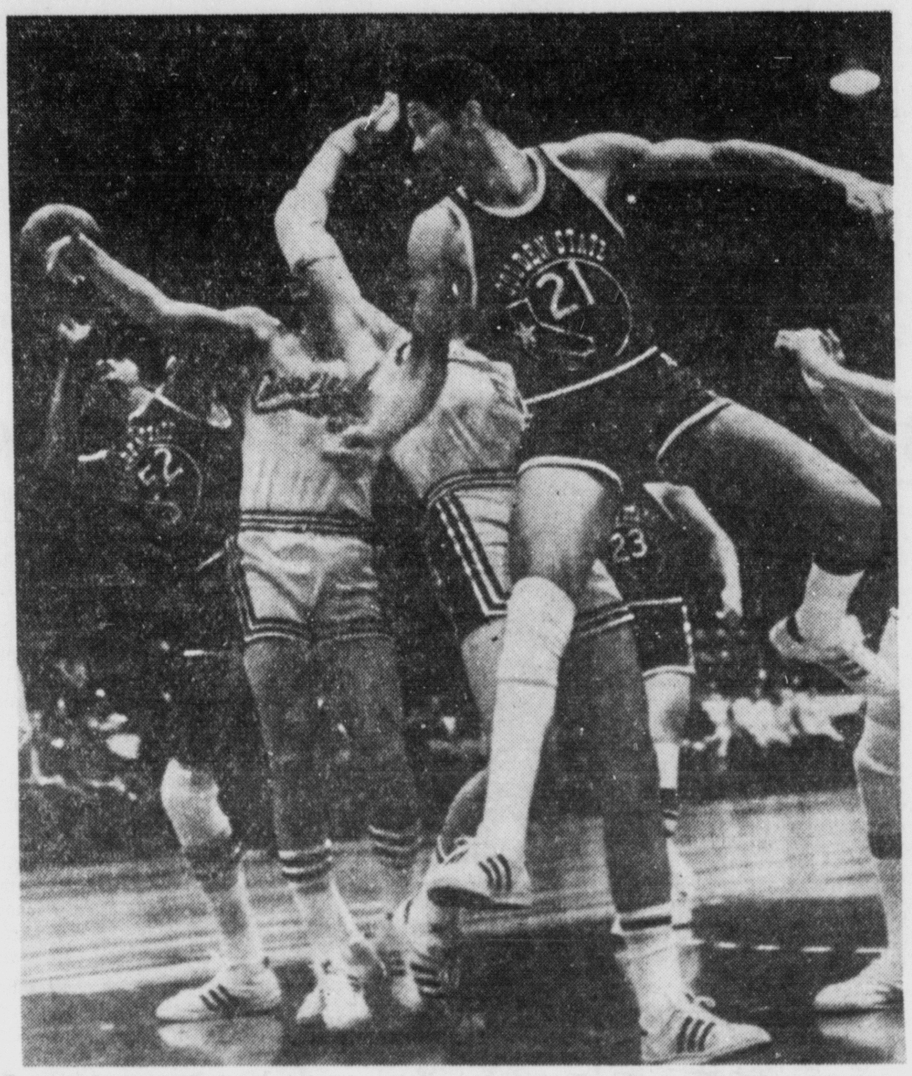

The 6-foot-11 center from Dillard, subbing for injured Nate Thurmond, hit 10-of-18 shots and tied the Cavaliers' home court rebound record held by Happy Hairston of the Los Angeles Lakers since Oct. 15, 1972.

"The most points I ever scored in college was 26 or 27. I was never much of an offensive player," said Johnson, drafted in the fifth round by the Chicago Bulls in 1970 but released. "It's the first time I played 48 minutes. I don't regret it but I am sure tired."

Golden State Coach Al Attles praised Johnson and added, "I was not concerned about the job he could do for us. I was just hoping we could keep him in the game. Wednesday night against Kansas City-Omaha, he picked up three quick fouls in the opening minutes."

Trailing 58-53 at halftime, the Cavs battled back in the third period and tied the score at 73 on a pair of foul shots by Austin Carr with 5:34 left. The next four minutes were a nightmare for the Cavs as the Warriors outscored them 16-2 and put the game out of reach.

"This was a big victory for us and after losing Wednesday night, I was afraid to come to Cleveland," added Attles. His team is 2 ½ games in front of the second place Lakers in the Western Conference's Pacific Division.

A SURPRISE — Golden State Warrior Butch Beard (21) caught everybody off guard last night when he passed off while driving the lane during a 122-103 victory in Cleveland. Teammate George Johnson (52) reached for the pass while the Cavaliers' Bobby Smith (7) stuck out a hand and Steve Patterson (50) fell backward after being bumped by Beard. (UPI Telephoto)

Austin Carr hit 26 points and Steve Patterson had 16 rebounds for the Cavs, who play host to the New York Knicks tonight.

Thurmond has missed the last two Warrior games because he favored his injured right ankle in a win here Tuesday night and suffered an injury in his left arch. He hopes to be ready when Philadelphia comes to call tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the opener of a lengthy home stand.

GOLDEN STATE (122): Lee 4 3-4 11, Barry 8 7-7 23, G. Johnson 10 3-5 23, Mullins 7 2-2 16, Beard 6 3-3 15, Russell 4 1-1 9, Barnett 9 3-3 21, Dickey 1 0-0 2, Ellis 1 0-0 2, Totals 50 22-25 122.

CLEVELAND (103): Smith 8 2-2 18, Davis 5 0-0 10, Patterson 7 0-1 14, Carr 12 2-3 26, Wilkens 7 3-4 17, Brewer 1 0-0 2, Cleamons 2 0-0 4, Witte 3 2-2 8, Warren 1 2-2 4, Totals 46 11-14 103.

Golden State 32 26 35 29 — 122

Seals' Star Says There's New Spirit

OAKLAND (UPI) — California Golden Seals forward Joey Johnston swears there is a new spirit on the club since Garry Young took over as player director and Marshall Johnston as coach.

"Even if we lost three games in a row since Marshall took over, I think I feel a different spirit on the club," said Joey Johnston. "Everybody is giving more of themselves. We feel better today than we did one week ago, before Marshall and Garry Young took over.

Seals defenseman Bob Stewart and goalie Marv Edwards have been given doctor's permission to play but only Stewart will dress tonight. He has been out since Dec. 6 with a leg injury.

Center Walt McKechnie worked out yesterday but it may be another week before he is ready while Rick Kessell and Craig Patrick are still hobbling with casts.

The Rangers, now third in the East, are 10-2-3 since Emile Francis replaced Larry Popein as coach the second week in January.

Bubble Gum And Trading Cards

Ah, those good old days. The happy days. We are being taken back to the '50s by way of movies, television and recording discs. There's a Broadway play on the subject and books about that era are rolling off the presses.

One book that will bring back baseball memories of those glorious years is, "The Great American Baseball Card Flipping, Trading and Bubble Gum Book," written by Brendan C. Boyd and Fred C. Harris. It's a Sports Illustrated book, published by Little, Brown and Co., taking you behind the scenes of the making of baseball trading cards and presenting a gallery of some of the trading cards out of that era.

BOYD AND HARRIS supply a lot of humor to the work as they recall some of the feats and non-feats of players of the past. Some examples are in order.

Next to the trading card with Whitey Herzog's picture on it: "Whitey Herzog caught the ball that was thrown out by President Eisenhower to open the major league season in 1958. This may not seem like much to you but, believe me, it was definitely the highlight of Whitey's career."

Information next to the card on Carroll Hardy of the Houston Colt 45s: "Carroll Hardy holds the singular distinction of being the only man ever to pinch hit for Ted Williams, which on the face of it might seem ridiculous unless you stop to consider that Williams was injured at the time and that the Red Sox didn't have anybody better they could put up to bat. No, on second thought, I take it all back. It is ridiculous."

ABOUT EDDIE MIKSIS of the Chicago Cubs: "The nicest thing that Topps could figure out to say about Eddie Miksis was that he was 10th in the National League in stolen bases in 1951, with 11. Hardly an earthquaking statistic after seven years in the majors. He had a lifetime batting average of .236 and 44 career home runs. Miksis was the sort of guy that if you were introduced to him at a party and he told you he was a big league ballplayer, you'd think he was kidding. In a way he would have been."

There are also cards, accompanied by more serious discussion, of some of the greats of the game, including Satchell Paige, Ted Williams, Sandy Koufax, Stan Musial and Ernie Banks. Out of their card collection came a real oldie of the Babe himself.

But some of the other ones! Do you remember Stan Rojek, Frank Leja, Clyde Kluttz, Foster Castleman, Laurin Pepper or Al Silvera? They're all pictured on cards among the pages of this book.

IN ADDITION to bringing out some good old fashioned laughter, the book by Boyd and Harris made me angry that I had thrown out all my cards I had collected as a youth. As happens to most of us, there came that time in life when I found that girls were not really all that bad. It was about this time I put that box of cards and those scrapbooks filled with pictures of baseball players in the far corner of my closet and the far corner of my mind. They've been thrown out long since.

Now I watch as that baseball trading card collection of my 11-year-old son grows and grows, threatening to expand to a second box. It might be worth writing a book about someday.

OLDEST MAN — Former Parks and Recreation basketball star John Coleman, who admits only to being "over 45," was the oldest man on the San Rafael High court and looked the part as a Marin All-Star performer last night.

Rosie Triumphs, Sharon Falls

DETROIT (UPI) — Rosemary Casals of Sausalito was victorious yesterday in the second round of the $50,000 Virginia Slims tennis tournament here, but Sharon Walsh of San Rafael was defeated.

Miss Casals, seeded second, struggled past Maria Navratilova of Czechoslovakia, 7-5, 7-5. Miss Walsh, unseeded, fell before top-seeded Billie Jean King, 6-3, 6-1.

Third-seeded Virginia Wade of Great Britain advanced with a 6-2, 6-4 win over Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., and fourth-seeded Francoise Durr of France downed Karen Krantzcke of Australia 6-1, 6-4.

A's Dark Believes He 'Can Get Along Now'

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Alvin Dark said, "I think I can get along with anybody now," when chosen to serve a second term as manager for Charles O. Finley.

Dark begins today testing his congeniality as head man of the Oakland A's often-stormy clubhouse.

Pitchers and catchers are scheduled to report to the spring training camp of baseball's world champions, with the first formal workout scheduled tomorrow. Other players will report Tuesday.

Dark, 52, managed the A's in 1966 and part of 1967 when they were in Kansas City. Several current A's played for him then, and catcher Ray Fosse and infielder Jack Heidemann were under Dark at Cleveland before the Indians fired him in 1971.

"A manager often gets himself fired. I didn't do a good job at Cleveland or in Kansas City," said Dark, named Wednesday to succeed the departed Dick Williams.

"I've gotten myself straightened out a lot in the past two years. I think I can get along with anybody now," he added.

Dark, whose home is in Miami, Fla., did a lot of thinking and played a lot of golf in the 2½ years he was out of baseball, still being paid under a five-year contract with Cleveland.

Dark was dumped in the aftermath of a near-rebellion by players who were angry at steps Finley took to penalize players and the team as a whole after some alleged heavy drinking on a road-trip plane flight.

"He couldn't handle some of the young players," said Jackson, who broke into the major leagues with the 1967 A's.

Jackson said Finley told him early this week Dark was a candidate for the job again and that the owner asked if Jackson could accept the return of the manager.

"I'm sure that if I, Campy Campaneris, Sal Bando or Jim Hunter has said no, Alvin Dark wouldn't be here now," Jackson said.

"I'm satisfied. For one thing, who else is there? It would have been great if Dick Williams came back. I think we all feel that way. You can't fight his record."

Dark knows that getting along with Charlie Finley could be more essential than getting along with his players.

"I'm the general manager and owner," Finley said after signing Dark again. "If I have suggestions to make, I'll make them."

And Finley has been known to make suggestions, usually by telephone, to his managers in the middle of the night or the middle of ballgames.

More Court Time For Champion

HOUSTON (UPI) — George Foreman, spending more time trying to rid himself of a divorce suit than training for his heavyweight boxing title defense, will return to town today to testify about his financial worth, according to an attorney for his ex-wife.

Foreman unexpectedly flew to the San Francisco area yesterday afternoon. There were as many reasons given for the flight as attorneys arguing the contested property settlement.

"Apparently the attorneys who went (to California) to get bank records could not obtain them," attorney Huey O'Toole said yesterday. "And Mrs. Foreman told me George went out there to get them himself. I was led to believe that everyone is coming back Friday."

Foreman is scheduled to defend his championship against Ken Norton March 26 in Caracas, Venezuela, but he has been training temporarily in Houston. Foreman said the inconvenience was not affecting his training.

Trainer Dick Sadler, glad to see Foreman back in California for whatever reason, said the champion will work better there.

"We will contend (with Norton) wherever we have to to train," he said yesterday, "but there is no reason to set up another camp two or three thousand miles from your camp."

Foreman and wife, Adrienne Ray, have decided on visitation rights to their one child.

Foreman's attorneys contend he is penniless. The lawyers for Mrs. Foreman are trying to prove otherwise with the aid of check, fight contracts and other financial records.

Domestic Relations Court Judge Wells Stewart will resume testimony when all the records are brought to Houston.

Foreman's attorney said the champion would have to eventually return to Houston.

Littler Regains Putting Touch

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Veteran Gene Littler went out today to determine if he really has regained his putting touch, and 149 other golf professionals tee off to chase him in the second round of the $260,000 Jackie Gleason Inverrary Golf Classic.

Littler reported his putter really woke up for the first time this year in yesterday's first stab at the $52,000 first prize. The 43-year-old Californian fashioned an opening fiveunder-par 67 for a one-stroke lead over comparative unknown Tom Jenkins of Houston, Tex., playing only his second year on the tour.

FOUR SHARPSHOOTERS

Four sharpshooters knotted for third with 69s over the 7,128-yard East course, which was swept by hot wind gusts of more than 20 miles an hour most of the day. They were Kermit Zarley, Lee Elder, Bruce Crampton and Jim Wiechers.

'NOT PUTTING'

"I'm not putting well at all," said the Merry Mexican.

Other favorites were having their troubles too on the greens of watery Inverrary. They included Jack Nicklaus, who reported "I was missing the six footers" to take a 74. U.S. Open champ Johnny Miller, fighting a flu bug for a 73, and Tom Weiskopf, who skied to a 40-37–77. Napa's Ron Cerrudo carded a 78.

Last year's Masters champion, Tommy Aaron, and recent Bob Hope Classic winner Hubert Green put themselves in fair position with 71s which tied them with a half dozen others. In all, only 17 of the 150 starters finished under par of 72.

BIRDIES

Collecting seven birdies with consistent putts of 12 to 18 feet, Littler said "this is the best I've putted all year."

"Just last week in the third round, I four-putted one green and three-putted another from only two and a half feet," he added. "I've been playing pretty good, but putting erratically. I hope I can keep this going."

Zarley, another tour veteran but seldom a winner, said he was using a new driver he picked up at a nearby repair shop and also sticking with a new grip he began this year, the interlocking grip.

But it was left up to husky Wiechers, a seven-year pro out of Napa, to turn in the day's most spectacular hole. Big Jim scored an eagle-3 on the 578-yard eighth hole, the longest on the course. His second shot landed in a sandtrap alongside the cup and he blasted the ball into the cup about 40 feet away with his third stroke.

AWAY IT GOES — Gene Littler belted his tee shot down the 17th fairway yesterday during the Jackie Gleason Inverrary Golf Classic in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Littler shot a five-under-par 67 to take the first-round lead by one stroke over Tom Jenkins.

Mets' Pitcher Seaver Has Lot To Live Up To

Combined AP & UPI

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — New York Mets' fireballer Tom Seaver has a lot to live up to. There's the Cy Young award he won last year and the $172,000 salary he'll receive this season as baseball's highest priced pitcher.

The 29-year-old right-hander won 19 games last year and posted a 2.08 earned run average to go with a National League high of 251 strikeouts.

Mets' general manager Bob Scheffing said yesterday his "biggest problem concerning Tom's contract was trying to arrive at how much is the best pitcher in baseball worth." Previous high paid a pitcher was the $165,000 reportedly given Steve Carlton by the Philadelphia Phillies after a 27-10 season in 1972.

Divers Slip

NEW YORK (UPI) — Since 1920, United States men and women divers have captured 37 of a possible 48 gold medals at stake in Olympic diving events. The rest of the world is catching up, however. The United States won only one of the four gold medals at Munich with Capt. Micki King of the U.S. Air Force capturing the women's springboard event.

Tar Trackmen Look Stronger

College of Marin's track and field team figures to be significantly stronger this year than last, and "could be a contender if everything works out," according to coach Tony Bailey.

The Tars will get their first test tomorrow at 11 a.m. when they compete in the Camino Norte Conference relays at Alameda College.

Marin's strength will lie in the distance events, but Bailey is also pleased about the team's sprint speed and versatility.

Last fall's cross country team, which finished 10th in the state, has bequeathed a squadron of fine distance runners. Pete Sweeney, Vian Collier and John Streett head a cast which includes Mike Killeen, John Ladd, Kian McCarthy and Dan Turek.

Marin was strong in the distances last year, but lack of depth and speed produced a seventh-place finish in the eight-team conference. "For the first time in quite a while, we have some speed," Bailey said.

Paul Crovo, with a 9.8 in the 100-yard dash to his credit, joins Tom Malvino, Larry Butti, Steve Goins and Alfred Kellough in the sprints. Ron Zechlin and Bill La Haye will handle the quarter-mile.

La Haye has put the shot in the past, and may do so this year, though Bailey also has Dan Skeen, Dave Crowhurst, Don Nelson, Larry Alberty and Mike Reilly to handle the weights. The javelin has been added to the shot put and discus this year.

La Haye's double is unusual, but many of the Tars run several events. Malvino is a 6-foot-4 high jumper. Crovo long jumps. Butti, Biber and Kellough triple jump. Biber and Kellough run hurdles. Josh Gilliam high jumps and runs hurdles.

Bruce McCarthy is another hurdler. Bob De Muth is the lone pole vaulter. Streett also runs the steeplechase (he was sixth in the state last year), an event which was added to the format for the conference meet, though not for dual meets.

Another change dictates that the champion will be determined by the league meet May 4, rather than by dual-meet results. "We don't know yet whether that will help or hurt us," Bailey said.

Though the Tars will be stronger, the rest of the league will be, also, Bailey said. "This looks like a good year for the conference as a whole."

No team score will be kept at tomorrow's relays. The relays usually are a good rough indicator of which teams will be strong, however. Every event will be done as a relay, including field events (three individual totals added produce a team total), but there will be open races in the 100, high hurdles, intermediate hurdles and three-mile in addition.

Porsche owners hold on to their cars for years. They're loyal owners. As a result Porsche re-sale values have always been high. Present conditions have increased demand and pushed values even higher. Obviously, your investment is well protected. Gas consumption is as low as 29 mpg. And that's getting to be very important. These days, a Porsche is a good idea.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Hefty Fish For Prize Winners

The winners of Field and Stream's 1974 freshwater fly fishing contest have been printed in the March issue. The winners represent 41 states and eight Canadian provinces.

Steve Truttman of Olema took first place in the chinook salmon category with a 44-pounder. He caught the fish Oct. 30 in the Chatco River in Oregon, using a Sexton rod, a Rogue reel with a Maxima line, 12-pound test leader and a shrimp fly tied on a number six hook.

Looking at that hook's small size, it's hard to believe that it would be possible to land such a fish. There was some luck involved too. Steve usually fishes the Smith River at Crescent City, but this year the fishing was slow there so he took a side trip into Oregon to the Chatco River. It paid off!

THE NAVARRO RIVER of California provided Thomas Neil and Terry Walling, two other Californians, with silver salmon for first and second places in that category. The winning weights were 17 pounds, 8 ounces and 11 pounds, 8 ounces. Papermill Creek in Marin came up with the third prized silver. It was taken Oct. 7 by Darrell Arnold using a comet fly.It weighed 10 pounds, 14 ounces.

A sturgeon weighing 235 pounds taken from San Pablo Bay Feb. 11 took first place in the "freshwater open" part of the contest. (San Pablo Bay is freshwater?) It was taken by F. Edrin Okvist on grass shrimp. That 420-pound sturgeon taken from the Sacramento River last year wasn't registered with Field and Stream. The salt water entry winners in the contest were not published in the March issue.

THE LOCAL OCEAN salmon fishery is tough to figure. Last Saturday, oepning day, there were an estimated 500 boats outside the Gate. The weather was great and the seas calm. The number of anglers (using an average of 10 to the boat) was probably close to 5,000. The catch averaged two salmon to the rod; this adds up to 10,000 salmon caught. Since then the winds and rough seas have come up, changing the entire picture. There's nothing more miserable than a rough day on the sea. Keep in touch with the Sausalito bait shops and the weatherman for those good days which make salmon fishing such a pleasure.

Most of the fish caught weighed between four and seven pounds. These fish are part of the 17,000,000 salmon planted by the Fish and Game Department last year. The angler's license monies are the supplier of these fish.I sometimes hear the woes of those who protest the license increases proposed for this year. Think about it. It's not a dollar an hour, or a day, or a week; it's a dollar for the entire year.

With the increased costs of everything these days, you sportsmen will be cutting your own throat not to be in favor of the raises 100 per cent. What would you be doing without those 17,000,000 salmon out there? At $1.50 per pound for salmon, those of you who caught fish have already had a good return for your money.

The bass and sturgeon derby put on by Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle will end Sunday at 5 p.m. If it rains and the bay stays rough, those fishermen now in charge of the derby with fish already logged in will coast in as winners. If you do get out, it seems that the party boats have come up with a new bait: live mud suckers. These live bait fish seem to be irresistible to stripers. And being that the baits continually move, the crabs don't chew them off your hook quite so rapidly. Using ghost shrimp at 10 for $3, just feeding those pesty crabs, is most frustrating. Of course, the best bait for sturgeon is either grass or ghost shrimp.

With the leading sturgeon now at 173 pounds and second place at 114, you might think it impossible to get a winner, but there's lots of room from third to 10th place. A 70-pounder would make the list.

A 24-pound striper still leads, but the angler with that fish is praying for rains and wind, just to keep you off the bay.

Alomar Agrees To Terms With Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Second baseman Sandy Alomar, who broke his left leg last Sept. 12, has agreed to terms with the California Angels and will report for spring training at Holtville next week.

When Alomar was hurt, it snapped a string of 648 consecutive games in which the veteran infielder had played. He batted only .238 last year but was a steadying influence in the field and stole 25 bases.

MARTIAL ARTS PROGRAM ON SUNDAY

A rare martial arts demonstration will be presented Sunday and four San Rafael men will be participating.

Li Kuo Wang, a Republic of China master in the martial arts, will battle Bill Kelly, 1970 U.S. karate champion, at Dublin High School in the East Bay Sunday at 6 p.m. Kelly, owner of East-West Karate School in San Rafael, and Wang will be showing full-contact stick fighting. This will be the first such demonstration in America. East-West is sponsoring the event.

East-West School students John Coen, Mark Martini, and Steve Vetterli will participate in bok-fu platform wrestling and bok-fu platform stick fighting.

Drake Quintet Bids To Clinch 2nd Spot

Drake High School, the strongest basketball team in Marin over the second half of the season, will attempt to nail down second place and avenge its worse defeat when it hosts Redwood at 8 o'clock tonight.

The rest of the season-ending Marin County Athletic League schedule calls for champion San Rafael at San Marin, Novato at Marin Catholic and Tamalpais at Terra Linda, all at 8 p.m.

Drake, the 1973 titleholder, has won six straight games since a three-loss mid-season slump which ultimately proved fatal. The Pirates' closest game during the stretch was a 92-83 victory over Marin Catholic Wednesday.

Redwood administered Drake's last defeat before the streak began, a 74-55 thumping Jan. 29. After that peak, the Giants lost three of four to tumble from contention, but a victory tonight would give them a share of second place with Drake at 10-4.

San Rafael, which clinched the championship by demolishing Novato Wednesday, 72-43, can finish the season with a 13-1 record by defeating San Marin (3-10). No team has done that well since Redwood was undefeated in 1971.

The Bulldogs' 6-foot-7 center, Bryon Stewart, needs 45 points to break the single-season scoring record of 332 set by Dana La Ferriere of San Marin in 1970.

Tamalpais (7-6), surging after a 1-4 start which included some narrow losses, will finish in fourth place win or lose. The Indians face Terra Linda's all-junior team (3-10). Busy gathering experience for next year, the Trojans won two straight before Wednesday's 79-60 loss to Redwood.

The Novato-Marin Catholic game matches two skidding teams. The Wildcats (3-10) reached their high-water mark with a 68-62 upset of Drake Jan. 25, and have lost seven straight since. Novato (5-8) has dropped three in a row.

15 49er Rookies In 3-Day Camp

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — Fifteen of the 18 rookies drafted by the San Francisco 49ers last month report today to Head Coach Dick Nolan for a special three-day camp.

Only men not expected in camp are UCLA running back Kermit Johnson, who has signed with the World Football League Southern California Suns, tight end Leonard Gray, who is playing basketball at Long Beach State, and lineman Levi Stanley of Hawaii. The 49ers didn't give a reason why Stanley won't be on hand.

Terra Linda, Redwood Seek Shares Of Crown

By LEW CODDINGTON

Redwood and Terra Linda high schools will be seeking the victories this afternoon which could make them co-champions of the Marin County Athletic League for junior varsity basketball.

Both teams carry 11-2 records into the season finales. Redwood visits Drake and Terra Linda hosts Tamalpais, both at 5:30 p.m.

Terra Linda trailed by one game until its 72-49 victory Tuesday at Redwood. The Trojans' success has been based on the work of two big players who "fulfill the strong man's role underneath," and five others who "hound the ball" on the perimeter, according to coach Chris Ahern. It's worked well enough to produce a 20-4 overall record.

Barry Carr (6-3½) and Rob DeGraves (6-2½) both are averaging over 12 points a game and lead the team in rebounds as well.

The quick offense and defense outside are supplied by Rick Ellington, Mike Martin, Gordie Hodgson, Mark Oczkus and Dan Wood. All of the key seven players are sophomores.

Redwood achieved its record, according to coach Bob Sargent, because "we have quite a few talented people, though we have no individual stars.

"Every player has been high point man once or twice. They're poised and smart, they don't panic and make few mistakes."

Most valuable player and high-point man, according to Sargent, is junior forward David Del Grande. When you're high point man averages 12 a game and you still have an overall record as good as 18-3, it means one thing: balance.

Center Don Brown, forward Chris Melony and guards Terry London and Gary Sorgen complete the starting lineup. Brown is the tallest at 6-foot-3, and Sorgen is the only sophomore among the starters. The others are juniors.

Coach Tom McCormick's team is led by a trio of 6-1 stars — top scorer Tim Hurley (averaging 13), top rebounder Steve Hossfeld (averaging 11) and Dennis Walsh (averaging 12 points).

COMIN' UP — With basketball season coming to a close, the avalanche of spring sports cannot be far behind. Next Saturday, in fact, is the date of the MCAL relays in swimming and track.

CONDOLENCES — Drake wrestler Corky Ingraham shakes hands left-handed these days, the result of an injury to his right arm which has kept him out of post-season tournament. "Had North Coast sewed up, too," the 177-pounder said.

Pirate 106-pounder Mike Feeney did qualify for North Coast, and another, Ross Parkerson (141) won the MCAL tournament. Drake wrestling has come quite a way since it was created from scratch by coach Imants Abers three years ago.

Giants' Fox Bridges Gap

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP) — The emphasis at the San Francisco Giants' training camp here is on togetherness, and even previously disgruntled pitcher Ron Bryant says manager Charlie Fox has opened up the lines of communication.

"Until this morning there was that communication gap," Bryant said yesterday. "I don't believe that exists any longer. "I admired him for being open with us, asking us what we thought could and should be done. I believe he became more a part of us and we a part of him," the 24-game winner said.

What impressed Bryant and other Young Giants was Fox' customary meeting in which he sets down the ground rules.

"This is not a military base," said Fox. "Just take care of yourselves we're here for only one purpose — to get into shape and play together.

"We're all in this together, operate as 'We' instead of 'I,' we will win this thing this year.

"If there is anything any of you have in mind, don't be reluctant to talk up," Fox said.

After the clubhouse meeting, Bryant said: "I'm sorry about what I said over the winter. I've got to admit I've given him a lot of guff."

He was referring to an off-season remark he made: "We'll never win a pennant as long as Fox is manager."

Seventeen batterymen were on hand for yesterday's workout. Missing were three pitchers — Gary Lavelle, Willie Prall and John Sielicki — and starting catcher Dave Rader, all of whom have not signed new contracts.

Democrat Bidding For Controller

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Kenneth Cory of Garden Grove yesterday announced he will seek the Democratic nomination for state controller and aim his campaign at curbing the "unchecked power of the big oil companies."

The four-term legislator declared there is "clear evidence" oil companies have been "underpaying the state by more than $50 million" annually for state tidelands oil.

He described as a "witch hunt" an Orange County Grand Jury investigation into charges he financed a write-in Republican candidate two years ago to weaken support for his main GOP opponent.

Cory declared he has opened his campaign finance books to the district attorney and cooperated fully with the investigation.

Cory, 36, noted the state controller serves as chairman of the state Lands Commission, which has jurisdiction over California's tidelands.

"For too long," Cory said in a statement, "the oil industry has been leading both state and federal officials around by the nose.

"As controller, I intend to use every tool at my disposal to make sure that the oil companies are made responsive to the public interest."

Cory's only major opposition for the Democratic nomination comes from San Francisco Supervisor Robert H. Mendelsohn. Republican candidates include Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael and James L. Flournoy, who ran unsuccessfully for secretary of state in 1970.

Cory said he expects to spend $500,000 for his primary race and has the support of two wealthy Democratic contributors, Max Palevsky and Miles Rubin.

Cory is chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Public Domain. The committee filed contempt proceedings against five major oil companies for refusing to comply with a subpoena for their records.

Law Would Require Signed Editorials

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — The Idaho State Senate approved and sent to the House yesterday a measure requiring newspaper editorial writers to sign their articles.

Proponents of the bill said editorial writers had a "moral obligation" to identify their work. One critic said the measure was introduced only because one lawmaker "got stung" by an editorial.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Pisces. Lord Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts of Britain, was born Feb. 22, 1857.

On this day in history:

In 1879, Franklin Woolworth opened his first "five-cent" store in Utica, N.Y. Sales for the first week averaged $2.50 a day.

In 1972, President Nixon met with Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung within hours after his arrival in Peking for an unprecedented visit to mainland China.

In 1973, Israeli fighter planes shot down a civilian Libyan airliner, killing 106 of the 113 persons aboard.

In This Action, A Half A Loaf Is Really Not Enough

If you're used to the old copybook maxims, you'll get a jolt out of one of the sayings in Poor Alfred's Almanac: Three-quarters of a loaf is better than half. It isn't greedy but just sensible to see that you get what you're entitled to.

UNWISE FINESSE

When this hand was played recently, South unwisely finessed dummy's queen of hearts at the first trick. If the finesse won, South would have ten sure tricks; if it lost, he planned to discard a club on dummy's ace of hearts.

As it happened, the finesse lost. South managed to discard a club but still had to lose a club trick. He gave up a heart, a club and two diamonds — one trick more than he could afford.

MUST BE LOW

If South's three clubs were all low cards, the heart finesse at the first trick would be the correct play. A finesse succeeds about half of the time, and South has no other reasonable play for the contract if his clubs are worthless. Half a loaf is better than none.

STRONG CLUBS

Declarer's strong clubs change the situation. He should take the ace of hearts, draw trumps and lead the jack of clubs for a finesse. If the finesse loses to the queen of clubs, South can later lead the ten of clubs for a second finesse.

South can keep the club loss down to one trick unless East has both the king and queen. The odds are 3 to 1 in declarer's favor. To put it another way, South will succeed three-quarters of the time if he tries two club finesses.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one no-trump.

The hand isn't strong enough for a response of two hearts, and the spades aren't good enough for a raise to two spades. The response of one no-trump is the only remaining possibility.

Interest Rate Cuts Boost Stock Prices

Analysts said some buying was generated by a new round of quarterpoint reductions in the prime interest rate, the third such reduction in as many weeks. The First National City Bank and Morgan Guaranty Trust of New York were among the banks announcing new prime rates of 8 ¾ per cent, effective Monday.

A discouraging factor was the Labor Department's report that consumer prices were up almost 1 per cent in January, the biggest one-month jump since last August.

Sale Of Enough Shares For Tax Loss Purpose Suggested

Q. What action should I take on Grolier Inc. (NYSE)? I hold 5,000 share) costing $12. — E.P.

A. Tight money and high interest rates hurt this heavily leveraged publisher. The 45 per dividend cut in November will release cash to help offset interest expenses which apparently increased 50 per cent in 1973. The FTC complaint charging Grolier with deceptive door-to-door selling practices has not yet been resolved. I suggest you sell a sufficient number of shares now to realize your full $1,000 long-term capital loss deduction against income in the 1974 tax year.

Q. My husband and I have held stock in Combined Insurance Co. (OTC) since it first became a stock company in the 1940s. It has been very kind to us, giving stock as well as cash dividends. We are very concerned with the drop in share price from $60 to $7. Do you think there is any chance it will get back in the higher selling bracket? — F.O.

A. Although there is no arguing the sharp drop in the price of Combined Insurance shares since the high of 1968, the drop is not quite as severe as indicated in the price you quote. Because of the numerous stock dividends, the high on an adjusted basis was 45⅞. The industry as a whole has been shunned of late by investors confused by the change in accounting methods which in some cases reduced and in other instances increased reported earnings.

Among items offered at Craig Creations will be hand-painted china, wrought iron, wood craft, hand-made door stops, bonnets, aprons, stitchery, needlepoint, wall hangings, macrame, glass sculpture, and many other hand-made gifts.

Touch Of The Past carries such items as player pianos, music boxes, juke boxes, gumball machines, numerous clocks, and oak furniture. The shop hours are Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Wednesday and Saturday 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; and Sundays noon to 4 p.m.

Lent is manager of the used car department at Felton's Porsche-Audi in Mill Valley. He has been in the automobile business for 12 years and collecting and selling antiques for the last five years.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

California Tax Credit Applies To Income Earned Last Year

Because the State of California had a nice fat surplus in its treasury, we have a one-time tax credit.

This income tax credit provides for a one-time tax credit for the taxable year 1973 and fiscal years beginning in 1973, based upon adjusted gross income.

That's right. You get a credit of a percentage of your tax as follows:

$4,000 or less	100%
Over $4,000 but not over $7,500	35%
Over $7,500 but not over $10,000	30%
Over $10,000 but not over $12,500	25%
Over $12,500	20%

For heads of household, surviving spouse, or married persons filing joint returns:

$8,000 or less	100%
Over $8,000 but not over $15,000	35%
Over $15,000 but not over $20,000	30%
Over $20,000 but not over $25,000	25%
Over $25,000	20%

Another Attempt To Impose New 'Spoils System'

Labor union bosses and their friends and puppets in the legislature seem determined to make California public employees subject to union dictation.

Not only is Assembly-passed AB 1243, which would mandate forced unionization of public employees, still alive in a Senate committee, but the same committee has another bill — also passed by the Assembly — which takes a side-door approach to compulsory union membership for the people s employees.

This is AB 1112 by Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, and Robert Beverly, R-Redondo Beach. This would legalize the "agency shop in California public employment.

PROPONENTS of "agency shop legislation rarely fail to point out that it differs from "union shop in that it does not require union membership. This is true, but it does require that all employees pay dues to the union, or assessments equivalent to union dues.

Thus, the "agency shop is a dodge to take money into the union treasury from every employee, even though he may not be a union member. Those who dont want union membership are subjected to taxation without representation.

This is exactly the law that was used in Michigan to force school boards to fire veteran, tenured teachers for non-payment of union assessments.

THERE HAVE been three bills in the current California Legislature to impose union membership, or union assessments, on public employees.

The first was SB 400, by State Sen. George F. Moscone, D-San Francisco, which applied to school personnel only. It replaced the Winton Act governing school board-teacher negotiations with a new law specifying that the union with majority membership in a teaching force must be sole bargainer for all teachers. It passed both houses but was vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The other two — both now in the Senate Committee on Public Employment and Retirement — are AB 1243 by Assembly Speaker and gubernatorial aspirant Bob Moretti, D-North Hollywood, and Ralph and Beverly s AB 1112.

PRESENT California law permits public employees to join unions. It permits unions to negotiate with the public employers (actually, the employers' agents, since the real employers are the taxpayers) in behalf of their members. But it provides:

"Public employees also shall have the right to refuse to join or participate in the activities of employee organizations and shall have the right to represent themselves individually in their employment relations with the public agency.

It should stay that way. To force public employees to join unions or pay dues to them against their will is to impose a new kind of "spoils system — in behalf of union bosses instead of political office holders.

Lonely Voices From Prison Find 'Underground' Outlets

WASHINGTON — Not to equate them as authors, but the upward literary careers of Howard Hunt, Alexander Solzhenitsyn, Clifford Irving, Angela Davis and Daniel Berrigan make it seem that in our day all a writer need do is spend time in prison to assure his future success on the outside.

But they are, believe it or not, exceptions. There are thousands more in prison who write but are not published, and more thousands who yearn to write but have no one to write to. They are not necessarily literary talents. What they are, mostly, is lonely.

WE MAY DISAGREE with them on the public service rendered by what used to be called the underground press, now the alternative press. Though some others may be annoyed, they probably cheer at the suggestion printed in the San Diego Door, for example, soliciting true confessions manuscripts:

"FBI AGENTS!!!" it whispers. "Want to get it all off your chest? You'll feel better for it, you know. Just call the DOOR at 233-9678. We guarantee confidentiality."

This is in an issue that includes embarrassingly clear photographs accompanying a long article uncovering the undercover agents of the San Diego police force. There have been some angry First Amendment debates about publication of such exposes in the past in California.

However, it would be a vengeful authoritarian indeed who faulted the Door and other offbeat papers for printing certain of their classified ads — the nonsexy, nonconspiratorial ones from prisoners seeking someone outside to talk with on paper.

OF COURSE I CANNOT guarantee that the motive of each of them is not to proposition the first correspondent he attracts, or to contract with him for delivery of a submachine gun, part by part, in weekly fruitcakes. But that is a chance I am willing to take.

They disclose, among other things, what men and women are thinking about — their pastimes and their painfully conscious dreams.

We already know that many blacks in prison are converts to Black Muslimism. We assume all prisoners think of the day they get out, and what they will do then. It had not occurred to me before, but obviously astrology is a serious fad in many prisons. They tell it more eloquently than my paraphrase:

"Political prisoner would like correspondence with seriously interested persons. To exchange knowledge for a better understanding of the future. Am looking for a future comrade, one way or the other. Write Azizm Sadiq Abdullah Mustaqueen" — at Lucasville, Ohio:

"I'm interested in the occult, write poetry and would like to hear from anyone interested in relating to a sensitive, lonely person behind bars. Huey Delaire, POB 600 South Dorm, Chino, Calif. 91710."

THE WORD "LONELY" recurs and recurs. It is in appeals from Mel Robinson at Chino; Warrel Brule, a Virgo at Chino; Mickey White at London, Ohio; Wardell Johnson at Tehachapi, Calif.

But it comes through even stronger sometimes when the word itself is not used.

Gary Cates, a Libra at Milan, Mich., is 22. "I dig music," he writes, "motorcycles, skiing, surfing. All outdoor as well as indoor sports. Would deeply appreciate if any person would take the time out and write me a few lines. I promise a return to all who write." His address is 28934-117, Box 1000, Milan, Mich. 48160.

Then there is Kirk Baker, 28768, who is 23, a Scorpio, also at Milan. He "seeks correspondence with brothers and sisters of free thought. I enjoy the outdoors, sports bikes, spiritual plateaus and love. Need help to keep my mind free."

Motorcycles, skiing, surfing, outdoors. Spiritual plateaus. Love.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND: Takes 2 To Detente

The Soviets would be well-advised not to be too reassured.

Of course the United States wants real detente — a two-way detente which benefits both sides, a detente which does more than momentarily tamp down the tensions of the cold war; one which will begin to remove their causes.

But a considerable number of Americans — and many of them influential — are beginning to feel that this is not the kind of detente which we are getting.

PRAVDA HAS BEEN printing stern articles suggesting that American conservatives and American Zionists have been pressuring the president and Congress to hold back on detente until something tangible comes in return from the other side.

But if the Russians could perceive what is happening in the United States, they would realize that it is not primarily the right-wing conservatives or the Zionists who are calling for a second look at the detente the Soviet Union is selling us. They have always had reservations about it. What is happening now is that the liberal center in the United States — political and intellectual — is coming to the conclusion that the Kremlin wants to get the substance of detente from the United States and give little or nothing in return.

What I am reporting — and the Kremlin needs to be aware of it — is that the political center of American liberalism now tends to the view that the Soviet Union is seeking to obtain the benefits of detente for itself and give little more than euphoria in exchange.

THIS KIND of one-way diplomacy wont work. It will leave Soviet-U.S. relations worse than before. It will be unproductive for the Russians and it will be dangerous for President Nixon if he tries to pretend to the American people that he is getting something which he isn t.

One significant piece of evidence that liberal opinion in the United States wants to get a better look at the other side of the detente coin comes from the Coalition for a Democratic Majority. This is a solid group of Democrats who are reclaiming their party from the clutches of the New Left, and their first task force report, under the chairmanship of former Undersec. of State for Political Affairs Eugene V. Rostow, will searchingly question the Nixon-Kissinger detente diplomacy.

It wont question the goal of detente or the wisdom and value of seeking detente with the Soviet Union.

But it will seriously question what its authors see as a tendency by Mr. Nixon to leave the impression that "detente is bringing about equal benefits to both sides.

LET IT BE UNDERSTOOD that the Humphreys and the Jacksons and the Coalition for a Democratic Majority are not out to undercut Soviet-U.S. detente. They consider it supremely valuable to pursue the goal of detente, but they also think it is supremely perilous to suggest that it is yet being realized.

So far, they see the Soviet Union carrying off the valuables of detente and the United States holding a heavy empty bag.

Negotiations in which the United States has so much at stake — SALT II, East-West troop reductions and a Middle East peace settlement — are not moving forward and Moscow shows little interest in contributing to its side of detente.

This kind of detente isn t going to work. It certainly wont be good for the United States. And it wont in the end help Mr. Nixon one bit.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY: Letters To The I-J

Some Questions Raised About Burglaries

1. What is the reasoning, if any, of Mill Valley and Sausalito City Councils for deleting, by fiat, descriptions of burglaries performed in their environs;

2. Are these city council "regulations" legal?

3. Have you ever urged city and county law enforcement groups to conduct symposiums on the subject how to secure your home?

When (time? days?) are most burglaries committed?

What is the law (home owners rights) if one finds (surprises) burglars at work in his home? Does a home owner have any shotgun rights? Etc.

Dr. Cooke's Devotion To Service Extolled

The style and implication in I-J news reports have had an anti-Cooke bias over several years but none more so than the story of Feb. 18. The content, timing, and placement of the story on the front page is so political that I am prompted to speak for Dr. Donovan Cooke, although without his knowledge.

Dr. Cooke, who was the first M.D. to risk opening a practice east of Highway 101 and south of San Rafael, has been our family physician for 20 years. I know that he drastically curtailed consultations after being elected coroner eight years ago, and after his appointment as over-all medical director, he saw even fewer patients and kept very irregular office hours depending on his county schedule. . .

As director of early childhood programs in the county and particularly as founder and director of the Marin Child Development Center, I also became acquainted with Dr. Cooke on a professional basis. I did not find him wanting as the administrator of mental health and related services. . .

Due to a family tragedy, I had the experience of meeting with the coroners of both San Francisco and Marin counties. Dr. Cooke was the most efficient and considerate in his official capacity.

When Dr. Cooke was first elected coroner, he had seven dependent children and he could not spare funds to participate in the pension plan. When he did choose to do so, it was not only the increase in income but the decrease in financial responsibility that made it feasible.

Dr. Cooke is not seeking reelection simply for pension eligibility, as your reporter implies, but because he enjoys the variations of medical practice afforded by the job and he gets satisfaction from using his skills to help those families unfortunately requiring the coroner. . .

Rhodesia Report Held Misleading

In tonight's (Feb. 19) Wire News Briefs, UPI again garnishes stale news in order to make new "news." I refer to their ploy of their report out of London claiming Rhodesia is to be the target of a major new offensive by guerrillas. Rubbish! The attacks on the Beira link have been part of Fremelo's plan since 1965, and have been very unsuccessful, which is probably why they are brushing the teeth of news media with a new tasking, but same old toothpaste. . .

Rhodesia is coping well. It has always had a top-level security cabinet, composed, amongst others, of the 12 chiefs in the Senate. All males from 18 to 21 serve in the forces, as has been the case since 1923, and so no "draft" as such exists. Rhodesia has the rail links to the sea, and Beira is only unique in that Rhodesia built the line, and operates it for Mozambique. However, Rhodesia is Zambia's sole link to the sea today. It behooves them to watch carefully their aid to the incursive rebels. Rhodesia is a patient country but it may not view an increase of guerrillas from Zambia's sheltering bases with its past tolerance.

To conclude, is it not a criminal matter that the United Nations, and Harold Wilson in Britain, have urged the world to give all aid and help to the terrorists, whilst the Organization of African States voted 30 million pounds to give arms and help to them, from funds which have sources in the U.S. foreign aid program? Yet not one of these nations gave succor to the seven drought-ridden North African countries — and as the prime minister of Niger put it, "We are not politically useful, nor economically viable, so we are forgotten."

It is about time we looked at Africa as so many nations, of many tongues, each separate, and not, as we do, as simply black men and white men, with the middleman of Arab or Asian descent in between. We might as well pool Slavs, Aryans, Normans, Gallics, Latins, etc., as simply one blob of white on a single continent. It makes as much sense.

Leo Ciucci Story Recalls Early Theaters

I have your issue of Feb. 9 and want to congratulate you for publishing that wonderful story about Leo Ciucci, and all those memorable photos.

I want to say that everything that was published is absolutely true, because Leo and I have been great friends since 1912. He worked at the Lyric Theater (upstairs) and I was the projector at the Victory Theater which was owned by my father. In that photo at the bottom of page M5, that is Yours Truly in front of the Victory. The brick building is still there.

Loophole For Lawyers In Moscone's Measure

By RUS WALTON

These Republicans! They have a knack of grabbing the short end of the stick here in Babylon.

Take the recent flap over the Moscone conflict of interest law. Thats the act, authored by State Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, that requires all state and many local public officials to disclose their personal finances and outside sources of income. It is a necessary and basically sound statute.

ONE OF ITS SECTIONS raised a storm. It requires officeholders to list any source of outside income in excess of $250 a year. Some officeholders, mainly doctors and lawyers, contend that to comply would be to violate patient-client confidentiality.

Nevada County Board of Supervisors has challenged the constitutionality of the law. That case is now being heard in Superior Court there by Judge Harold Thompson. Moscone introduced SB 1340 to amend the law and prevent violation of confidentiality. The lawyers in the Nevada County case have agreed that the judge should consider the amendment before he makes his decision.

MOSCONE'S SB 1340 (the amendment) sailed through the Senate, 33-0. But it ran into a stone-faced bloc of Republicans in the Assembly. The bill squeaked through, 41-31, without a single Republican "aye .

Senator Moscone and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti jumped on that. They charged Republicans were a bunch of bad guys trying to gun down conflict of interest laws. Further, they charged the GOP lawmakers were trying to keep the issue clouded so the courts would find the law unconstitutional.

Those charges sent Assemblyman Bob Burke, R-Huntington Beach, into a low, screaming orbit. "It s just not so! All we were trying to do was make the Democrats live up to their own bill.

"THEY PASSED IT. They said it was what they wanted. They basked in the shadow of Watergate and took all the credit for the Moscone bill last year. Now they re trying to sneak back and get off the hook.

"If the law is found unconstitutional, if it is thrown out, the Republican caucus will move right away for new legislation — the toughest bill that would be construed constitutional.

Burke was one of 14 Republicans who voted against Moscone s conflict of interest bill (SB 716) last year. He said he thought it was "a farce .

"I felt they had no intention of fulfilling all of its requirements and, you see, I was right. As a matter of fact, Moscone kept saying that doctors and lawyers would be exempted. That made second-class citizens out of other officeholders: businessmen, for instance. They have to comply with the law right down to the letter.

AS I SAID, Burke is upset that the Democrats got the big end of the stick on the conflict of interest drill and Dante s inferno had no torment like that of a politician with bad press reviews.

But Burke does have some valid points to make.

The most valid of which is that "if the Moscone Act is finally watered down it will give a lot of incentive for passage of the Common Cause (political reform) initiative.

"And that," says Burke, "is really an unworkable proposition.

Study Of Use Of Your Taxes Comes After They're Spent

Last week the column ended with: "It doesn't take an expensive outside consultant to determine whether the data processing department is operating to full capacity." Further that an honestly kept log on each program could be compared with the output of computers used by large firms.

I think what has been going on will wonder you plenty. Here it is:

APRIL 30, '73 — Administrator Barrows presented budget for '73-74 fiscal year. June 11 — Final budget hearings were started. A few days later the budget was adopted, including $750,000 for data processing.

July 23 — Le Baptiste and Bob Roumiguiere (committee on management) sent an inhouse letter (not listed on agenda) to Barrows, Joseph B. Leach, data processing director: Betty Presley, director health and human services: Peter C. Meyer, election officer, and Bert Broemmel, county assessor. (Note: Mike Mitchell, auditor-controller was not included, but apparently he was later). The letter suggested that Presley, Meyer and Broemmel join the administrator, data processing director and the two supervisors in their committee. Then this:

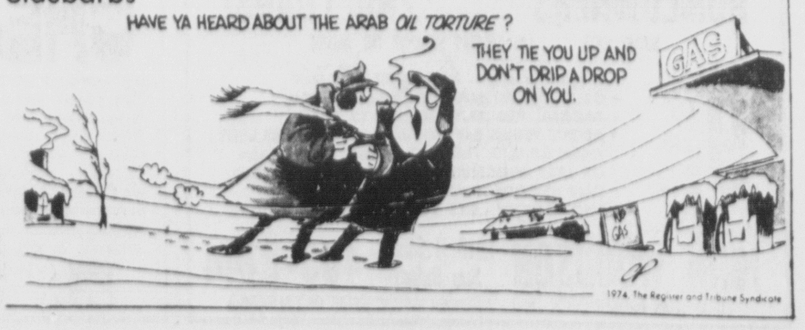

"After discussing with Joe Leach, it is proposed that the following comprise a tentative list of committee objectives: (1) Review potential programs and relative program priorities. (2) Review the criteria for program selection. (3) Review systems workload production. (4) A program of education and encouragement in data processing for other departments heads and management personnel. (5) Review and follow up on programs after they become operational." The first meeting was scheduled for Aug. 2.

WHEN ONE READS the "objectives" doesn't it wonder you what the 3/4 million dollars was being spent for?? The board voted that tax money of yours in June. Then on July 23 they admit in that letter they didn't know what it was being spent for — a blank check! Now consider this:

Seven months and a few days later, the gold room gents unanimously voted approval of up to $10,000 "for a study of the feasability of increased use of data processing in county offices."

And they expect you to like them apples!

Sausalito Council Pulls Surprise On Eve Of Decision At Polls

This week, councilmen supported a four-month halt on development, a measure that was soundly thrashed when presented last year. This time, two weeks before an election, it passed unanimously.

SAUSALITO CITY officials are making no comment on a scorching letter published in the weekly Marinscope by former City Clerk Miriam Ansell, who resigned in a huff last week after many years in City Hall. Excessive drinking, cursing and sloppiness were among the charges hurled in the missive.

In declining to offer a reply, city employees seem to be offering the hope that Mrs. Ansell's move to Spain is much easier now that she has a load off her chest, and bon voyage.

I REMEMBER on my college graduation day, I drove by the football stadium where the ceremonies were being held, pulling a trailer load of furniture. It was moving day for me, having decided against wearing a cap and gown and sitting among several thousand other graduates while we yawned through a traditional address about how the world would now be in our hands.

So it was refreshing to attend the first graduation ceremony at New College in Sausalito a week ago. The affair just sort of commenced, with graduates, sans mortarboards and robes, wandering in and taking a seat wherever they pleased.

Sweet poetry wafted around the room. A baby in a mother's arms softly gurgled. There were leather bound editions of Shakespeare's sonnets for graduates, and daffodils. Some tradition may have been born that day, despite the alternative school's freeform philosophy.

I must have been caught up in it all because Jay Harvey, a young woman student who crawled under the speakers' rostrum for an impromptu poetry reading to conclude the ceremony, informed me that in my story I misquoted her quoting Robert Frost, which is doubly embarrassing.

The mistake occurred in the last three lines of Frost's "The Road Not Taken," written in 1916. The correct quote is:

"Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —

And that has made all the difference."

I hope that makes a difference.

BART To Initiate Computerized Runs

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit district has permission to begin running its automated trains under computerized control on the Concord line.

The state Public Utilities Commission, which has delayed trans-bay service because of uncertainties about the computer operation, approved its use on the Concord line.

The procedure will enable BART to eliminate a manual system under which supervisors were required to phone between stations for train clearance.

Roberti Out Of Second Spot Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Democratic State Sen. David Roberti yesterday withdrew from the race for lieutenant governor, saying he lacked campaign funds.

The 34-year-old legislator from Los Angeles said in a statement from his office that he was threatened with running his campaign into debt, adding, "I am unwilling to do so."

"Many small contributions have been coming in on a regular basis," he said. "But too many large contributors have decided to remain neutral in a race between two Democratic state senators."

Democratic State Sen. Mervyn Dymally of Los Angeles and attorney Howard Miller are also campaigning for their party's nomination.

More Retarded Funds Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill increasing the rates paid to nonprofit homes for the mentally retarded has advanced to the Assembly floor.

The bill (AB2911) by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, would appropriate $6 million to pay for the rate increases.

The measure was approved by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee Wednesday.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Inter-American Conclave Suffers Many Handicaps

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

If the inter-American conference in Mexico City turns out to be something less than a total success, there will be an assortment of reasons for it, including some traceable to the energetic U.S. secretary of state, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger.

After years of disenchantment with U.S. policies toward Latin America, the nations south of the Rio Grande have warmed to Kissinger as a scholar and innovator from whom they hope will come new ideas on solution of problems, some of them tracing back to the days of gunboat diplomacy.

But with the knowledge that within days of leaving Mexico City, Kissinger will be heading again for the Middle East, the suspicion is inevitable that once again the United States is listening to hemispheric problems with but half an ear.

IN DEALINGS with China, the Soviet Union and the NATO allies, Kissinger has demonstrated his preference for the broad picture, working down from there to the small details.

The trouble is that for many years the United States' hemispheric neighbors have been told of nothing but the broad picture. Now they would like to see the broad strokes reduced to smaller ones detailing the specifics.

Therefore the Kissinger proposal that the agenda include the energy crisis and the world situation found scarcely on echo among the other 24 nations participating.

THERE ARE OTHER problems as well.

Latin Americans frequently accuse the United States of seeing their continent as a geographic mass and not as of individual countries with individual problems. In Mexico City they committed the same error in looking for a single spokesman to speak for a continent.

Between the continent's few remaining free democracies and the military dictatorships there was a natural coolness.

Two of the most explosive issues had been defused before the meeting began. They involved the Panama Canal and the U.S. promise eventually to restore Panamanian sovereignty over it, and the agreement ending the U.S.-Peruvian dispute over expropriation of U.S. properties.
